WASHINGTON, Dec. 21.—An old-age pension program whereby Georgia will begin its participation in the social security act shortly after the first of the new year, was worked out here today between Governor-elect Rivers and John G.
Winant, chairman of the Social Security Board.

Mr. Rivers, who determined the program in an executive conference with Chairman Winant, said the plan called for participation by the counties now using funds to meet pauper rolls and the setting up of an administrative board to distribute pension checks by the general assembly at its forthcoming session.

"As a result of my conference with Mr. Winant, I believe the Georgia old-age pension problem is solved," the Governor-elect said. "As soon as the general assembly meets we will have the administrative board set up and by that time I hope to have arranged for county participation through the use of funds they now give to the poor."

Ready by February 15.
Asked specifically about the date for the payment of the first pension Mr. Rivers said "not later than February 15."

The Governor-elect revealed that for several weeks he has had Lamar Mur-dough, Melrose lawyer, here conferring with Governor Winant and Frank Bane, executive director of the Social Security Board, working out the program for a permanent old-age pension system in Georgia.

"I have never had any doubt about the permanent program upon which

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21.—Whole-hearted co-operation between the State Highway Department and the Federal Bureau of Public Roads in the administration of government highway construction funds was pledged here today by Governor-elect E. D. Rivers in an extended conference with Thomas H. Mac-Donald, chief of the bureau.

Possibility of a complete reorganization of the State Highway Department after the new Governor takes office January 12 was seen as a result of the conference. Several proposals to this end were discussed, in fact.

Accompanied by a group of friends and advisers, including Senator John B. Spivey, of Swainsboro, slated to be the next president of the state senate, and Representative Roy W. Harris, of Augusta, likewise scheduled to be the new speaker of the house, Governor-elect Rivers arrived in Washington this morning for a series of conferences with high administrative officials preparatory to assuming his duties as state executive next month.

In addition to Mr. MacDonald, the Governor-elect and his party conferred during the day with Secretary of Interior Harold I. Ickes, the public

COUNCIL APPROVES RELIEF FUND PLAN

Mrs. William Candler Is Given Right To Acquire Fi. Fas on Biltmore.

A moral obligation to provide $25-000 relief money for January was adopted yesterday by city council which also voted to allow Mrs. William Candler to buy $80,000 worth of taxi fi. fas, against the Biltmore hotel for approximately $35,000 in an effort to retain local ownership of the fashionable hostelry.

A motion by Councilman John A.
White to create the post of director of public safety to supersede the authority of Police Chief T. O. Sturdivant and Fire Chief O. J. Parker was referred to the 1937 council finance committee without debate.

Council passed the proposal of

Pope Decides To Make Christmas Eve Speech

VATICAN CITY, Dec. 21.—(AP)— Pope Pius XI decided today to speak to the world on Christmas Eve.
The holy father, who has been refrained from making public appearances for complete rest, ordered Father Saccorini, the Vatican radio director, to prepare a broadcast for 12:30 p. m., Rome time, Thursday, (5:30 a. m. Atlanta time.)

A microphone will be set up in the Pope's study, next to his bedchamber.
He will be carried to his desk and placed in an armchair for the talk.
Vatican doctors expressed concern that the Pope overexert himself and impair his recovery from his slight attack of paralysis and his congestive circulatory condition. But the pontiff, who was persuaded to cancel his traditional reception of cardinals on Christmas Eve was determined on the broadcast.

Atlantan Recalls Wally as Mrs. Spencer

Henry B. Tompkins, prominent Atlantan, and Mrs. Wallis Warfield Simpson in Italy. This photograph was made at Lake Maggiore at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Laurence Tompkins. Although this picture was taken in 1926, it shows that Mrs. Simpson has changed little in the last ten years. Mr. Tompkins was staying with his brother, the widely known sculptor, when the then Mrs. Spencer, traveling in Italy, stopped with them for a short visit.

Edward VIII was talking about Fort Belvedere, his two-story-old country home in the forest fast-

His obvious pleasure as he sank into one of the comfortable arm-the zest with which he enjoys his Formality is his bete noir and there is nothing formal about the Butcher Cumberland built so long was an indefinable feminine touch

Duelist, a Papa, Offers To Forgive and Forget

BUDAPEST, Dec. 21.—(UP)—Dr.
Franz Sarzas was so elated today over being a father that he offered to "forgive and forget" the 100 men he challenged to duels.

A daughter, named Anna, was born to his aristocratic wife, Magda, for whose honor he issued the challenges.
Sarzas said, however, that he would not withdraw his challenges unless his opponents apologize for their statements that he married his wife for her money.

"In celebration of the birth of my first-born, and in the spirit of Christmas, I'm ready to forgive and forget," Sarzas said. "The baby is just like me, black eyes and hair—a marvelous Christmas present."
Police said Sarzas needn't bother to withdraw his challenges because they wouldn't let him fight any more duels, anyway.
He fought four men, with pistols and sabres, before the police interfered.

DETROIT, Dec. 21.—(AP)—Strikes persisted with little indication of settlement tonight in the automobile industry, withholding much-needed supplies of parts from assembly lines.
At the same time a possibility of the first break in the Pacific coast maritime strike appeared, with union sailors voting on two tentative peace agreements affecting offshore and coastwise lines. Settlement, it was indicated, might pave the way for agreements with other striking maritime unions.

The United Automobile Workers of America, which claims 12,000 members on strike in plants supplying automobile manufacturers with bodies, wheels and other parts, made its first bid to open direct negotiations with General Motors Corporation executives, and was met by official silence.

U. A. W. officials have a working agreement with the Fiat Glass Workers' Union, which has more than 14-000 members on strike, for united action in the automotive industry. Both are members of John L. Lewis' Committee for Industrial Organization, which also is launching an attempt to supplant company unions in the steel industry.

A new strike by U. A. W. members demanding union recognition and wage increases led 200 idle at the Lynch Glass Corporation, of Anderson, manufacturers of glass-making machinery.

EMBARGO ON ARMS UPHELD BY COURT

Law Forbidding Sale of Raw Materials to Belligerents Is Forecast.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21.—(AP)— Neutrality legislation empowering the President to forbid the sale of raw materials as well as munitions to warring nations was forecast in informed quarters tonight after a supreme court decision sustaining the Chaco arms embargo.

Upholding constitutionality of a broad delegation of power to the President in foreign affairs, the court ruled, 7 to 1, that in dealing with problems of neutrality, the chief executive must be accorded "a degree of discretion and freedom from statutory restriction which would not be admissible were domestic affairs alone involved."

State Department officials, already at work on recommendations for new neutrality legislation, to be considered at the coming session of congress, made no secret of their pleasure at the court's decision. The high tribunal

Tide of Opportunities Gifts Slowly Rises Toward Goal

Average of $300 a Day, However, Must Come in Each of Three Remaining Days If All of Ten Deserving Families Are To Be Assured of Aid

By RALPH T. JONES.
Another day of brightening hope for the Ten Opportunities came yesterday. The gifts to this, finest charitable cause of the year, came in with gratifying number and amount, and it is possible, today, to announce that two more of the prayers from these little Atlanta families have been answered. One by adoption by a group of Atlanta's finest fellows and girls, and one because of the generous contribution by the general fund.

Opportunity No. 7 was adopted yesterday by the Employees' Club of the Citizens and Southern National Bank. This little family, a widow and one son, will be taken care of for another year, so they may stay together for another milestone of that road they had enjoyed so much, the road of growth and education until the boy is able to earn a living for them both, until he can "take side aid.

Leaders in Cuban Fight

The Cuban house yesterday impeached President Gomez, below, to a committee. Principal charges of the accused against Gomez were coercion of congress on the matter of the army-sponsored sugar tax measure. Colonel Batista, top, was principal supporter of the tax measure.

NANKING, Dec. 22.—(Tuesday)— (AP)—Madame Chiang Kai-shek, wife of the Chinese government, left Nanking by airplane this morning, bound for Sianfu, center of Marshal Chang Hsueh-liang's revolt.

She was expected to treat directly with the rebel leader to obtain her husband's freedom. With her went her brother, T. V. Soong, former minister of finance.

Reports that Marshal Chang was demanding a huge money payment for his prisoner's release circulated in authoritative Nanking circles, and some authorities expressed belief the revolt would be settled by silver dollars, not bullets.

The Chinese government, still balked in its effort to release its leader, General Chiang Kai-shek, learned with deepening alarm tonight the rebellion in the northwest had embraced another province.

Circumstantial reports reached the capital that General Yu Hsueh-liang had raised the flag of revolt at Lanchow, his provincial capital, on December 13, the day after Marshal Chang launched his coup at Sianfu and seized General Chiang and many of his followers.

ter of rebellion, on the northwest.
Spread of the mutiny deepened anxiety in the capital for the captive generalissimo, as negotiations for his release continued another day, said by

A Northwest Air Lines transport, which crashed last Friday in north Idaho, was sighted from the air by Lieutenant Byron Cooper. The plane carried Pilot Joe Livermore and Arthur A. Haid.

"There is no question but that both men are dead," said Cooper.
Amelia Earhart Putnam, world famed aviatrix, came here to follow up on her last flight, a number of senators aboard a Western Air Express ship which disappeared last Tuesday, on route to Salt Lake City from Los Angeles.

She piloted her monoplane along the eastern shore of Great Salt Lake for an hour. Then she returned with the report that fell regularly from the lips of nearly a score of searching diers:

"No Trace."
Later, apparently concluding her own "clue" was false—like a hundred others—Mrs. Putnam and Paul Mantz, technical adviser, left for Los Angeles.

A rescue party was formed, quickly, but, with 20 miles of wilderness between the party and Cemetery Ridge —across canyons, mountains and snow—drifted forest trails—it was not expected to reach the plane before early tomorrow morning.

Livermore and Haid were over northern Idaho near the Washington line, bound for Spokane from St.
Paul, when they reported at 3:10
a. m. last Friday that ice was forming on the wings of their all-metal plane.
Mrs. Haid, wife of the co-pilot, just home from a hospital with a 10-day-old baby, was not informed of the discovery. She was told bad weather had disrupted flying schedules so that

SENATE WILL SIT AS OUSTER COURT; OUTCOME CERTAIN

Only One Vote Majority Is Required There and Upper Chamber Was Consistent Foe of Chief Executive's Policies.

PRESIDENT FEARS
FASCIST TRAINING

Kills Tax to Provide Dictator With Funds for Such Purpose; Stands
Up for Civil Authority.

HAVANA, Dec. 22.—(AP)—The house of representatives today impeached President Miguel Mariano
Gomez by a vote of 111 to 45.

The ouster vote was taken after the house and senate snomed under Gomez's veto of the army-sponsored sugar tax bill which would have provided funds for the maintenance of army-taught rural schools.

The president had fought the measure because, he asserted, such a procedure might introduce the "Fascist manner" to the education of Cuban youth.

The bill was sponsored by Colonel Fulgencio Batista, Cuba's "strong man."

The impeachment charges after the house affirmative vote must be sent to the senate which will sit as a court in an action unprecedented in Cuba's history.
A one-vote majority is all that is required in the senate, a consistent foe of Gomez's, to determine Gomez's fate. A vote of 28 to 6 would bar his veto of the sugar tax bill.

The house went into its necessary extraordinary session to hear the impeachment proceedings after the senate by a vote of 28 to 6 barred his veto of the sugar tax bill.

Earlier, the house of representatives in extraordinary session, had referred impeachment charges against Gomez to a committee, instructed to draw them up in proper legal style.

Principal charge in the accusation against the President was coercion of congress on the matter of the nine-cent sugar tax law.

The accusation was signed by 177 representatives, 108 votes were necessary to impeach. A trial must be held by the court of the senate.
The President today vetoed the measure which would supply the estimated $1,500,000 for the support of army-taught rural schools. Less than an hour before the house met in secret session to consider his impeachment, he sent the veto measure to the senate with a 2,000-word message.

The senate meeting in extraordinary session tonight was thrown into an uproar when a number of senators on the floor drew pistols after Santiago Verdeja, anti-Gomez senator, told exception to claims of Gomez's supporters.

As the pistols were whipped out,
Arturo Illas, president of the senate, drew his own weapon and announced he would kill anyone who fired a shot during the session.

Jose J. Gutierrez, Gomez supporter who Illas said was the first to draw a pistol, and two other senators who

Giant Tuna Waits in Cold Storage As Bidding Pauses at $75 Mark

Eight hundred pounds of tuna fish is still awaiting someone who'll give 75 cents a pound, or better, for it. The knowledge that every penny of the price paid is going to the most worthy of all charities, the Ten Opportunities fund, is not enough. Latest bid for the magnificent fish is $75, made by Nick Johnson, manager of the Ship-Ahoy cafe. Ten cents a pound, you know, would make the price $80, but, since announcement of Johnson's bid in yesterday morning's paper, there have been no higher offers. Can it be there is no one in Atlanta who doesn't realize the value of thunnus thynnus, the far-famed horse mackerel of the ocean? Why, it should sell for at least 25 cents a pound, or $200 for the entire 800 pounds of it. You know, if you should bid it in, you don't have to eat it all yourself. Or even cook it on the family stove. You could give the fish away to some charitable institution, just as General Lindley W. Camp, present owner of the fish has, agreed to give whatever price it brings to the Opportunities fund.

Thus, if you should make a bid and get the fish, you'd do a double duty as a charity contributor. Your money would go to help some people who need help mighty badly, and your fish would go to feed a lot of mouths that might otherwise be empty. Not that Mr. Johnson, of the Ship-Ahoy, is going to read the fish is knocked down to him already. No, sir. We're keeping this auction running, for a few days anyway. There are number of bidders to be heard from yet, we believe. L. O. Moseley, manager of the Wine-coff hotel, already has been in the bidding twice, you recall. He started it with $25, then came in with a bid of $50, a short while back. Al Belle Isle, of the taxicab and garage company, is another bidder of the past. Also Jesse Draper, of the Draper-Owens Realty Company. And Cecil Cannon, of the Henry Grady hotel. Then there is Commodore Warren, down in Miami, who wired one bid, and who may be heard from again. And others.

Meanwhile, the fish waits, in patient majesty, in cold storage, to find who is going to get him. Even in cold storage he may be blushing at the slowness of the bidding. Come on, fellows. Surely you're not going to make us knock down 800 pounds of such kindly sea food at less than 10 cents a pound. Who'll raise Nick Johnson's bid of $75?

JOBSLESS INSURANCE ACT.
FRANKFORT, Ky., Dec. 21.—(AP)—Acting Governor Keen Johnson called the legislature today into special session Wednesday to consider an unemployment insurance act. Governor A. B. Chandler was in Washington to confer with federal social security officials about the legislation which must be enacted by December 31 if states share in government funds.

RAIL TRAVEL HEAVY.
CHICAGO, Dec. 21.—(AP)—George A. Kelly, vice president of the Pullman Company, said today the railroad's demand for extra equipment to handle the Christmas holiday travel rush was "the heaviest in six years." For the period between December 18 and January 3, he estimated there would be 15,200 extra car trips over and above regularly scheduled equipment.

Hearst, Wally and Young Roosevelt Mocked at 'Gridiron Widows' Fete

Publisher Depicted as Romeo in Balcony Scene at White House With John Boettiger Portrayed as Juliet Who Inquires "What's in a Name?"

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21.—(AP)—Three sets of Romeos and Juliets exchanged sugar-coated barbs on a step-ladder balcony in the White House tonight.

Newspaperwomen stung for Mrs. Franklin Roosevelt's annual party for "Gridiron widows" depicted William Randolph Hearst as a circulation-loving Romeo wooing the Juliet of John Boettiger, Roosevelt son-in-law, who recently took a Hearst job in Seattle.

In old English lines with New Deal meanings, writer-actresses presented Franklin Roosevelt Jr. and Ethel du Pont as another Romeo-Juliet team. The third pair, portraying the Duke of Windsor and Mrs. Wallis Simpson, did their stuff in pantomime.

Even Mrs. Roosevelt, who started the parties for ladies ineligible to attend the stag dinners of Washington newspapermen took part in one stunt—"off the record"—and served as master of ceremonies.

"What's in a name?" asked Juliet du Pont and Juliet Boettiger on their respective balconies. "What's Roosevelt?" each continued. "It is not fish nor fowl nor Democrat nor Republican nor right nor left nor Coughlinism nor Townsendism. Nor anything belonging to a party."

Parting was "such sweet sorrow" in both skills. The Boettiger Juliet said that "One never knows, on a job with Hearst, if he'll be working tomorrow."

Juliet du Pont warned her Romeo that "if my kinsmen see thee, they'll make thee join the Liberty League."

Stunters dedicated songs as follows: "I ain't Got Nobody," to the Republicans; "It's a Sin to Tell a Lie," to the Literary Digest; "I'm Sitting High on a Hilltop," to President Roosevelt, and "I'm an Old Cowhand," to Vice President John N. Garner.

Four hundred guests, including cabinet wives, congresswomen, wives of Gridiron banquets and newspapermen attended the party.

HEADS SYRIAN REPUBLIC.
BEIRUT, Syria, Dec. 21.—(AP)—Hacham Bey Atassi was elected president of the Syrian republic by parliament tonight after the resignation of Mohamed Ali Bek El Baed was accepted.

ARKANSAN IS HELD IN DEATH OF WIFE

Chiropractor Says Mate Caused Own Death by Smoking in Bed.

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., Dec. 21.—(AP)—Jailed without bond on murder charges, E. E. Grover, 46-year-old chiropractor, protested his innocence today against accusations that he burned his wife to death after a quarrel in a rooming house.

He told officers Mrs. Cleo Grover, 35, probably caused her own death by smoking a cigarette in bed. Several times before she has gone to bed with a cigarette in her mouth and caused fires, Grover asserted.

He was brought into municipal court for arraignment today but Deputy Prosecutor Curtis Ridgeway obtained a continuance until tomorrow to round up additional witnesses.

Detective Lieutenant Cecil Brock said Grover told him both he and Mrs. Grover had been drinking in her room and that she was smoking in bed when he left her late Saturday night.

Romeos were attracted to Mrs. Grover's room by smoke shortly after 2 a. m. Sunday. Two beds in the place were on fire. She was lying on the floor unconscious, her body horribly burned, left eye discolored and her lip cut.

The pretty brunette died four hours later. Detective Chief Herbert Akers said she moaned "he did it, he did it," without calling anyone by name.

PRESIDENT APPROVES STANDISH'S MARRIAGE

MANCHESTER, England, Dec. 21.—(AP)—With President Roosevelt's approval, Myles Standish, 27, United States army cadet, married today to Betty Wallis, 23, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William K. Wallis.

It was the first wedding approved under a ruling which provides that United States foreign service employees must ask permission of the President to marry a foreigner.

Streamlined Atlanta Pet Off to White House

Two-month-old Rudolf von Erlenheim, of the best dachshund blood in Atlanta, is being shipped to the White House this morning as a Christmas gift for Sarah Roosevelt and Katie Roosevelt, granddaughters of the President. Mrs. Charles McGeehe, of No. 1 Andrews drive, is introducing "Rudy" to his temporary quarters he will occupy on his epochal trip. The McGeehes are friends of James Roosevelt, son of the President and father of the two recipients.

Young Atlantan Will Leave Today To Begin White House Residence

Two-Month-Old Dachshund Given by Little Charles and Mary McGeehe to Sarah and Katie Roosevelt for Rumping Mate.

For the next four years, at least, Rudolf von Erlenheim is assured of comfortable quarters. He moves into the White House on Christmas Day.

"Rudy," as he is known to his intimates, leaves his native Atlanta and the loving care of a fond mother today to join the Roosevelts—Grandpa Franklin D. and Granddaughters Sarah and Katie—in their rooms about the White House floor.

"Rudy" ought to fit into that atmosphere very neatly. He is in what the psychologists might call the formative months. In fact, he is just two months old. The best blood in Atlanta courses through the Von Erlenheim veins—the best dachshund blood.

His father, Ado von Bohlensbach, was imported from Germany by A. G. Candler Jr., and his mother, Raecher's Trine von Erlenheim, has eight points on her championship and has never been defeated wherever she has shown her charms.

"Rudy" is a Christmas gift to the five-year-old Sarah Roosevelt and her year-old sister, Katie, special favorites of the President and the daughters of his son, James.

The streamlined puppy is being sent to Sarah and Katie by Charles McGeehe Jr., 7-year-old, and his five-year-old sister, Mary McGeehe, of Atlanta. Charles McGeehe, of No. 1 Andrews drive, and father of young Charles and Mary, is an old schoolmate and friend of James Roosevelt, the President's oldest son. They attended Groton and Harvard, together, and see each other quite often.

A few months ago, James Roosevelt told McGeehe he would like to have a dog for Sarah and Katie. He was not sure what sort of dog he wanted, but he said:

"They need something that would be not too fractious or boisterous and not heavy enough to topple them over during their affectionate moments."

Yesterday, Mrs. McGeehe bought "Rudy." The McGeehes own "Rudy's" uncle and they favor the dachshund as a playmate for children. So "Rudy" starts the long journey today and no dog could ask for more pleasant quarters than the White House.

U. S. ASKS SPEEDY TEST OF JOB INSURANCE TAX

Prospects for Immediate High Court Ruling Heightened by Request.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21.—(AP)—Prospects of a speedy supreme court decision on constitutionality of a major part of the federal social security act were heightened today when the government joined in a request for such action.

Solicitor General Stanley Reed urged the tribunal to review an appeal filed recently by George F. Davis, of Boston, challenging validity of the section levying a tax on employers to aid those thrown out of work.

Both Davis and Reed asked the justices to pass on the question without waiting for a ruling by the circuit court of appeals at Boston. The federal district court at Boston upheld the legislation and dismissed the complaint.

Earlier the court, in a brief session had agreed to pass on a case involving the constitutionality of the amended Frazier-Lemke act granting a three-year moratorium on foreclosure of farm mortgages.

Two years ago it declared unconstitutional the original Frazier-Lemke act for a five-year moratorium.

In other action before adjourning for two weeks, the court:

Granted the government permission to participate in arguments on constitutionality on the railway labor act guaranteeing collective bargaining to workmen. The case, brought by the Virginia Railway Company, will be argued during the week of February 8. Refused to review a case brought by the Kansas City Board of Trade challenging constitutionality of the 1936 act broadening federal regulation of commodity exchanges. The appeal was filed without waiting for a ruling by the circuit court. It can be submitted again later.

REBELS HURL SHELLS INTO HEART OF MADRID

MADRID, Dec. 21.—(AP)—Fascist artillery hurled shells into the heart of Madrid today in a new bombardment of the besieged capital.

Four shrapnel missiles struck in the middle of the city, one landing near the Telephone buildings, the tallest commercial structure in Madrid.

To the west of the capital, government troops strengthened their positions on a 12-mile front touching the snow-capped Guadarrama mountains at the north end.

The government claimed its forces repulsed the insurgents in two attacks and then took up new positions. The official statement said the Fascists suffered heavily and that Socialist troops seized six tanks.

Observers believed General Francisco Franco, Fascist commander in chief, was strengthening his left wing in preparation to attack the strategic El Escorial highway, northwest of Madrid, to open the way to the Guadarramas.

Government and Fascist troops have been entrenched on the Guadarrama slopes since the early weeks of the civil war.

Several clashes in the northern provinces in which Socialist forces were generally successful were reported in dispatches reaching Madrid today.

From Bilbao it was reported troops loyal to the Madrid regime had captured Cresta de Hill and repulsed a Fascist insurgent attack on Alameda, inflicting 115 casualties.

An arms factory and the telephone building at Oviedo, which the insurgents held, were ablaze following a bombardment by Socialist artillery, said a dispatch from Gijon. This source added the insurgents had been driven from the Homiedo pass.

Insurgent planes bombed several towns in Leon Province, it was reported. In reprisal, Socialist aircraft bombed the enemy airport at Virgen del Camino, also in Leon Province. A company of Socialist militia made a dash into Matallana, southeast of Leon City, dynamited a railroad and derailed a coal train.

HAVE 'PERFECT ALIBI,' MRS. RANSOM AVERS AS PROBE PROCEEDS

Officials Continue Preparation for Exhumation of Two Bodies.

As preparations were made yesterday for the exhumation of the body of Nick Ransom this afternoon and that of Spencer Mitchell within the next few days, Mrs. Ransom, attorney for Mrs. Ransom, declared she had a "perfect alibi" in case detectives charged she fired upon the now dead men during the gunplay two doors from the police station more than a week ago.

Mrs. Ransom was arrested on charges of murder several days after the shooting, in which her husband was killed, and has announced through her lawyer she could meet any charges placed against her but would make no statement at present.

Ike Ransom Under Guard.

Ike Ransom, fourth man in the shooting affray, yesterday afternoon remained under police guard at the Georgia Baptist hospital where he is recovering from wounds. It is understood bond for $500 will be made by him by Roy House, in whose offices the shooting occurred.

Solicitor General John A. Boykin yesterday asked for a law making it a crime to "play the bug" and he termed the shooting a prelude to a gang war in Atlanta. Boykin contends the lottery racket was being fed by innocent citizens who do not realize what they do when they play the "bug."

People who play the "bug" were declared by the solicitor to be just as guilty as those who make their living collecting its money.

Delay in exhuming the bodies of the dead men has been caused by several technical questions which have now been worked out, investigators said as they announced they wished to "clear the entire matter up immediately."

Bullets To Be Studied.

Bullets obtained from the bodies of Mitchell and Ransom will be compared by ballistic experts with those fired from the various guns in an effort to determine who shot whom. Bullets which killed V. H. Billingsley, the other dead man, passed through his body and are already in possession of the police.

Once it is determined who shot whom, the solicitor's office has announced the case will be taken before the grand jury.

The gunplay has been termed by the solicitor as an outgrowth of the activities of the lottery racketeers in Atlanta and information is understood to have established that Mitchell and Billingsley were attempting to "muscle in" on the Ransom business, taking their customers away from them.

Mitchell and Billingsley were instantly killed, Nick Ransom died several days later, Ike Ransom is still in the hospital and Mrs. Ransom was shot in the thumb.

PAVING OF POST ROADS DISCUSSED BY LEADERS

Organization of Farmers Also Will Seek Rural Electrification.

Rural electrification and paving of post roads in Georgia were brought under discussion here yesterday at a meeting of public officials, who planned an organization of farmers to work for the desired program.

Speakers at the meeting included Jere Wells, Fulton county school superintendent; Dr. Willis A. Sutton, superintendent of Atlanta schools; and Troy Chastain, who presided at the meeting.

Predictions were made that congress would soon appropriate money for paving post roads and that this would give employment to school graduates from 15 to 25 years of age who now are without work.

Chastain pointed out that paved roads and rural electrification would make the country more attractive and more comfortable place in which to live, and would improve the general appearance of the state.

Dr. Sutton touched on soil erosion in his address, declaring the ravages of erosion of soil must be stopped or the state ultimately would become a desert.

OLD SERVANT DIES AT HER HOME HERE

Maggie Lindsey Had Worked Many Years for Lewis H. Beck.

Maggie Lindsey, known to hundreds of Atlantans as the faithful negro maid of Lewis H. Beck, pioneer Atlantan and founder of the Beck & Gregg Hardware Company, died yesterday at her home, 78 Ashby street.

Maggie, a native of Troup county, having been born near LaGrange, came to Atlanta long before the turn of the century with the family of George A. Speer, in whose household her mother was employed. She continued in the service of the Speer family for a number of years.

She joined the employ of Mr. and Mrs. Beck 30 years before Mr. Beck's death, about five years ago, and after the death of Mrs. Beck remained "to take care of Mr. Beck."

The body will be taken to LaGrange for burial near her old home.

STATE INCOME TAX SETS NEW RECORD

Collections This Year Surpass Best Expectations of Revenue Commission.

Georgia's state income tax collections this year will set an all-time record and even surpass the goal set by the state Revenue Commission, Chief Clerk J. A. Smith said yesterday.

Collections to date, he said, are $2,575,000, as compared with a previous high of $2,100,000 last year. A "goal" of $2,500,000 was set at the beginning of the year.

Child Must Divide Christmas With Parents

Little Marlyn Thorpe, center of a recent court dispute over her custody, is shown above with her screen actress mother, Mary Astor, preparing for Christmas. The child will by court orders divide her holidays with her parents, spending Christmas Eve with her father, Dr. Franklin Thorpe, California physician, and Christmas Day with her mother.

SHELTON RE-ELECTED FULTON'S ATTORNEY BY COMMISSIONERS

W. Stokely Northcutt Named To Handle Tax Claims; 'Field Book' Urged.

Charles B. Shelton, local attorney, was re-elected attorney for Fulton county yesterday at a special meeting of the board of county commissioners, and W. Stokely Northcutt, of College Park, was named assistant county attorney in charge of tax claims.

Shelton will receive a salary of $4500 a month during 1937, the same as in 1936, and Northcutt will receive $2000.

For the last several years, Shelton has been ill and out of the city, during which time his law partner, Ralph Pharr, has served as acting county attorney.

Homer Gullatt, tax assessor, was authorized by the commissioners to make preliminary investigation for the ultimate creation of a county tax "field book" which will city, it is claimed, much taxable property that today goes untaxed. Gullatt is to make a trip to Miami, Fla., immediately to study the "field book" used there.

The book compiled by the county, was suggested by Gullatt after efforts to purchase one had been cancelled because of high costs. He says the county staff can compile one for approximately $25,000, a sum which will be immediately repaid by the additional revenue which can be secured as a result of the book.

A truck to make rounds through the Buckhead, Center Hill and Lakewood Heights districts sweeping and cleaning the streets was provided for by the commissioners and will be put into operation immediately.

Fulton county employees will be paid December salaries tomorrow the commissioners decided.

VETERAN OF TWO WARS, DAVID GREEN, PASSES

Well-Known Atlantan, Native Georgian, Dies Here at Home of Son.

Veteran of the War Between the States and of the Indian wars, David E. Green, 90, died yesterday at the home of his son, Henry H. Green, veteran of the World War and leader in veterans' affairs in Atlanta and the nation.

Mr. Green served with Georgia troops throughout the War Between the States and immediately after the close of these hostilities, joined the recent Union army, which became the United States army, battling the Indian resistance against the spread of the white man into the west, a long series of skirmishes and bitter fighting.

After serving for some years in this service, Mr. Green returned to Georgia and settled in Carroll county, near his birthplace, where he was the father of five children, of whom Henry Green was the only son.

Mr. Green was for some years assistant city building inspector. About 15 years ago, he retired from active life, living quietly with his son, Henry, and a daughter at 1111 Oak street, southwest.

Henry Green is a deputy United States marshal and served during the World War with the 82d division. Today he is commander of Atlanta Post No. 1, American Legion, national commander of the war service units of the Shrine of North America, and national grand chemist of the 40 and 8, an organization composed of members of the American Legion. Funeral services will be held at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon and burial will be in the family plot in Greenwood cemetery, in charge of J. Austin Dillon.

KING AND WALLY HAVE NO FAST-SET FRIENDS

of the odd-shaped pieces and fitted it into its proper niche. I wish now I had watched more closely. That piece might well have had a dot on it labeled Canned.

The room was typical of Belvedere. A grand piano stood against the far wall. Behind it, next to a window, was a combination radio and phonograph. Most of the chairs were soft and chintz-covered. A few were decorative Queen Anne arm chairs. A sofa faced the fireplace and behind it a long table with a lamp, books and a few of the ever-present snuff boxes of which Edward is so fond.

Half-way down the room, along the right hand side by the tall French window, stood a low cocktail table with the necessary equipment. Windows occupied more than half the wall space. Those at the far end look out over thick rhododendrons onto the lawn that slopes gently to the ramparts glistening with bronze cannon from a bygone age. Beyond is the electrically-lighted outdoor swimming hole and the tall trees of Windsor Park.

Sports Rooms Added.

From any room the view could not fail to be inspiring. Trees that obscured it were hewn down two centuries ago by Cumberland, who chose this spot as a point of vantage and named it Fort Belvedere (Bel, well; veder, to see). From her guest room on an upper floor, where keen-eyed sentinels once were posted, Wallis Simpson, who spent many years in Virginia, could look out over Virginia water, a gentle stream that lurked at the foot of the rise.

There are 14 rooms in Belvedere now, just as there were in 1750, when Bonnie Prince Charlie went "over the sea to the sky" and the fort became superfluous. But in 1920, when Edward decided to make it his home, a gymnasium was erected, servants' quarters and a garage were built, squash courts, a tennis court and the swimming pool were laid out.

Both the Duke of Windsor and Mrs. Simpson are connoisseurs of food. The meals served at both Fort Belvedere and 16 Cumberland Terrace were alike not only in the choice of viands but in delicate seasoning and genius of preparation. Wallis is an excellent cook herself and seems to inspire rare ability in her kitchen help.

Typical Menu.

A typical dinner menu in either manège: Clear turtle soup, a lobster mousse with a light piquant sauce, roast pheasant with soufflé potatoes and a mixed green salad, frozen fresh pineapple and toasted cheese savory just before the coffee. During dinner a light red Bordeaux of a famous chateau vintage, with the coffee, a liqueur.

At Wallis' home all lights are turned out immediately after serving and only candlelight remains. At Belvedere there are lighted tapers on the table, but side lights give added illumination.

The china and table service at Belvedere bear the King's crest. At 16 Cumberland Terrace the china, glassware and silverware were mainly heirlooms brought from Wallis' own Malaga.

The dinner table at Belvedere is square mahogany without napery of any sort and glowing with a soft pattern on the table, but side lights give added illumination.

"I grew awfully tired of having to look on my own and other people's noses," she explained.

Gardens Are Gorgeous.

The King's quarters consist of a sitting room, a study, bedroom and a bath on the first floor. They contain his hunting trophies and other prized possessions, as well as informal photographic studies of himself and his friends. I do not recall having seen a picture of Wallis Simpson anywhere in Fort Belvedere.

There is nothing about the grounds of Fort Belvedere that is reminiscent of the gardens of Versailles, but in a more simple way, perhaps, they are as lovely as anything in England. It is here that Edward and Wallis spent unnumbered happy hours planting bulbs, thinning, weeding, rolling, lawns. From the Belvedere greenhouses came most of the flowers that seemed to be everywhere inside 16 Cumberland Terrace.

"And why not, sir?" a gardener commented, "otherwise they would go to waste."

So much for the homes which, like their books and friends, give a definite insight to the characters and tastes of the two who enjoyed them so much.

Their mutual regard for books may have been one of the lodestones which drew Edward and Wallis together from the start. Both are tremendously fond of histories, works on politics and political economy and biographies. Neither cares for light fiction.

Don't Run With Fast Set.

Their friends are different from the fast-living, hard-drinking "social circle" depicted by the Archbishop of Canterbury in his exhortation of the ex-king.

Was the archbishop referring to Lord and Lady Louis Mountbatten, Lord and Lady Brownlow, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Rogers, the Duke and Duchess of Sutherland, the Honorable and Mrs. Evelyn Fitzgerald and Lady Diana Duff-Cooper, Lord Dudley or Mr. and Mrs. Ricketton Hall?

Clever, intelligent, alive and stimulating people they are without question, but to impute to them "standards and ways of life alien to the best instincts and traditions of the British people" is merely displaying a deplorable ignorance of English social life. In any drawing room in London, including the most conservative, they would be welcome guests. And it has not been the least of Wallis' contributions to the King's happiness that she surrounded him with a group as diverting and entertaining as this.

Home, books, and friends. Here, inevitably perhaps, they have been laid before you. I can say with sincerity and conviction that, were my personality under judgment, I could ask for no more worthy witnesses than these.

(In his next article Mr. Noyes describes the events preceding King Edward's abdication.)

WAR PRISONERS RETURN.

BUDAPEST, Dec. 21.—(UP)—Thirty-two Hungarian war prisoners who were marooned in Siberia during the World War returned here today after an absence of 21 years. Only one had a wife awaiting her. She fell, crying, into his arms.

Rhodes Scholarship Winners in Southeast

EDWARD'S WARDROBE ARRIVES FROM LONDON

Carload of Clothing Indicates Duke Will Stay at Estate for Long Time.

ENZESFELD, Austria, Dec. 21.—(AP)—The way was opened tonight for Edward, Duke of Windsor, to participate more actively in Austria's social life—for the ex-king's wardrobe arrived from London.

When the resigned British monarch's chauffeur drove to the castle of Baron Eugene de Rothschild, in a car piled high with luggage, the woe-few among residents of this village, "The royal shirts have arrived."

The arrival of the carload of clothing was taken as an indication he intended to remain for some time in the castle to which he came after he quit the British throne for love of Wallis Warfield Simpson, and that he planned more extensive social activities, perhaps making excursions from the chateau soon.

(At the villa at Cannes, France, where Mrs. Simpson is staying, an authorized spokesman said she would not see her fiancé until spring.)

A visitor to the estate said Windsor helped hostess the Baroness de Rothschild, in arranging Christmas decorations, standing on a stepladder. He now calls her "Kitty" and she calls him "Eddie" last night when they played everlasting friendship to each other.

The Duke also played golf today, losing many balls in the drive which hung over the estate, but getting the exercise which now is a part of his daily routine.

Baron Rothschild planned a merry observance of Christmas, with the probability increasing that among the guests would be Queen Marie, of Rumania—second cousin of Edward—and her daughter and son-in-law, Princess Ileana and Archduke Anton, of Hapsburg.

The aviator who dropped flags from an airplane on the castle grounds was cleared up with the statement of Julius Arigi, Austrian World War ace, that he had a token of a soldier's affection for this sympathetic former ruler.

Police dissuaded him from dropping a wreath, he said, because it might have hit Windsor.

WALLY SENDS WINDSOR CRATE OF TANGERINES

CANNES, France, Dec. 21.—(AP)—Edward, Duke of Windsor, will eat tangerines packed by his sweetheart and grown in the garden of the estate where she is staying here.

Wallis Warfield Simpson filled a box with the fruit today after the gardener of the villa of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Rogers gathered it for her. Then she went out to do some Christmas shopping, but whether or not she bought a present for the man who gave up the British throne because of his love for her was not disclosed.

Send your checks to Hugh H. Trotter, treasurer, Ten Opportunities Fund, care of The Constitution.

You know by now all we can tell you of the reason or the need or the urgency of this "Opportunity" appeal.

To know the 10 families have been selected, after study of many, many pitiful cases, as the 10 whose need in all Atlanta, is most urgent and whose promise of eventual rehabilitation is brightest. It is on those two grounds they are chosen.

Real Families in Need.

You know that in almost every case an Opportunity family consists of a widowed mother and little brood of children, led in direct need by the mother, who, in keeping such children within the loving care of their own mothers, by keeping the family intact, we can give them the best possible opportunity to grow into manhood and womanhood, into the kind of citizens we want for this Atlanta of ours.

When the opportunity has been published the amount needed, monthly, to bridge the gap between income and essential outgo. We simply ask you to make up that gap, to bridge the chasm between direct poverty and a decent chance, for these little ones. To lend a helping hand while their stunted feet traverse this dark and rough street along the highway of their lives, until they reach the lighter and smoother way of self-support and decent independence.

What Can You Give?

There are many of you who can, single-handed, adopt one of these families for the year. Many could spare the $20 or $30 a month that is needed. If you are one of these fortunate ones, just telephone the Opportunity fund, tell us you take Opportunity Two, Three, Four, Six, Eight or Ten, as the case may be, and make those supplicating hearts happy without delay.

If you cannot stretch your own finances to such a degree, you can at least contribute something, small or large, to the general fund, or by groups. These gifts to the general fund should be sent, as noted earlier in this story, to Hugh Trotter, treasurer, care of The Constitution.

Opportunities Listed.

The Opportunities yet unspoken, are as follows:

Number Two. A young widow and two children, 8 and 10. The father died at sea and their only support is the little mother makes by sewing and other handwork. They need $30 a month.

Number Three. An invalid father, struggling mother and three children. The father is gradually winning back to strength and the boys, 14 and 12, are aiding by doing odd jobs after school hours. They need $25 a month.

Number Four. A tubercular father, a heartbroken mother and three young children. They must be aided while the father wins his way back to health and wage-earning ability. They need $35 a month.

Number Six. A splendid mother, widowed, and five children. The eldest, a girl, expects to find a job and be able to become the breadwinner within a year. In the meantime they need $25 a month.

Number Eight. A mother, recovering from tuberculosis, with little children waiting, hoping for the day when she can return to them from the mountain home where she is living to cure her disease. She must have her own essential living expenses and transportation for the twice-monthly visits to Atlanta for the treatment

RHODES SCHOLARSHIPS ARE AWARDED TO FOUR

Two Georgia Candidates, However, Fail To Achieve Oxford Honors.

Four young men, whose college careers are being polished off in eastern universities, walked off with honors yesterday as the brightest and best-posed students in the southeastern states.

Their reward will be Rhodes scholarships, sending them to England to complete their educations at Oxford University.

The winners are:

James E. King Jr., of Leesburg, Fla., a student at Harvard University. Thomas Lockwood Perry Jr., of Asheville, N. C., a senior at Harvard. William C. H. Prentice, of Williamsburg, Va., a senior at Swarthmore College.

Karl A. Price, of Middlesboro, Ky., a former student at Vanderbilt and now a sophomore at the Yale law school. Price is a brother of Don Price, a former Rhodes winner.

The selections were announced last night, in alphabetical order, by General Charles P. Summerall, former chief of staff of the United States army, who is now living in Charleston, S. C.

General Summerall acted as chairman of the examination committee, which also included John C. Ransom, Vanderbilt professor; Harvie Branscomb, Duke University faculty member; Berkeley Blackburn, United States engineer, of Jacksonville, and E. Warren Moore, Atlanta attorney.

All examinations were oral. Records of the students are accepted from the schools they attended, and when they appeared before the examining board they merely answered questions to determine their knowledge of world affairs and their ability to measure up to extra-collegiate standards required of America's representatives at the old English university.

Two Atlanta students were in the finals. They were Sam Gibson, 1932 West Peachtree, and Benson Ellison Lane Timmons III, 4315 Vienna road, from Georgia Tech and Georgia, respectively.

MERRILL RECOVERING FROM CRASH INJURIES

PORT JERVIS, N. Y., Dec. 21.—(AP)—Dick Merrill, Eastern Air Lines pilot, was recuperating tonight from injuries suffered when he brought an airliner down in the Pocono mountains without serious injury to 11 occupants.

Hospital authorities said Merrill had a good night. He said he had a "deep sleep" because of his exhausted condition. He has a cut lip, injured jaw and fractured ankle.

Others aboard the plane, forced down in bad weather Sunday night, proceeded to their destinations. The plane was badly damaged.

she must have if she is to be cured, to live. Needs $20 a month.

Number Ten. A widow and five children. The eldest boy is practically certain to reach the point, within a year, when he can earn enough to support the family. In the meantime they must be helped to the extent of $20 a month.

Six Families Remain.

There are six Opportunity families as yet without a sponsor for 1937. Do you know any finer thing you could do than to take over the financial responsibility for one or more of these families for the year?

Remember the words of Him who taught that he who gives to the poor benefits three, "the poor, himself and Me."

Reach for your telephone now and tell us which of these Opportunities for 1937 you'll accept.

Or, reach for your checkbook and make out the most generous contribution you can to the Opportunities general fund.

Please.

AUTO MAKERS FACE SHORTAGE OF PARTS

fronted two cities. At Flint, Mich., where 106 striking drivers of Flint Trolley Coach, Inc., have paralyzed transportation facilities for 13 days, the city commission met to hear a special committee report that municipal operation of the system was not practical. A walkout was voted by 635 Brooklyn (N. Y.) bus company drivers demanding higher pay and other adjustments.

Homer Martin, International union president, instituted the automobile workers' overtures to General Motors, seeking an agreement for collective bargaining.

Martin requested a conference with William S. Knudsen, executive vice-president, saying it was necessary, by "the present crisis, which... has been brought about by the flagrant discharge of and discrimination against union men in your various plants, and the speed of the line which has been set without consideration for the workers' welfare and the absence of seniority rights and numerous other complaints."

Knudsen made no comment on the telegram, which Martin dispatched soon after the arrival here of John Brophy, a director of the C. I. O.

U. A. W. strikes have halted operations in General Motors subsidiaries—Fisher Body Corporation and Chevrolet Motor Company—at Atlanta, Ga., and Kansas City, Mo., affecting more than 5,000 workers.

Major automobile producing companies announced resumption of operations on full schedule today, although observers watched assembly lines closely for effects of parts shortages caused by strikes.

Two plants of the Kelsey-Hayes Company, wheel manufacturers of Detroit, remained closed, and a skeleton force worked at the affiliated Kelsey Wheel Company at Windsor, Ont. Tom Parry, U. A. W. organizer, was arrested at Windsor and faced a charge of participating in an unlawful assembly. A picket was struck by a police club today when workers in taxicabs tried to pass strikers' lines outside the Windsor plant.

Parts shortages affected operations in some Ford assembly plants although the big River Rouge plant, employing 87,000 men here, operated normally. The Cincinnati plant was closed, and the St. Paul plant reported that unless new supplies were received it would curtail operations.

Analyzing the situation in the automotive parts industry, Ward's Automobile Reports in a special supplement said profits of accessory manufacturers have failed to keep pace with those of the automobile producers, despite increased business.

Ward's predicted this solution: "The accessory companies must go to the manufacturers and ask them for a higher price for their products, so they can afford to grant the raises their men demand. They must make legitimate profits and meet current wage levels at the same time."

The car makers will not be unsympathetic. Manufacturers, in turn, need have no hesitation in raising the prices of their finished products, in order to compensate for the extra costs of parts. They will not lose their markets by so doing."

Terms for a tentative settlement were to be reached before striking sailors by Harry Lundberg, chief of the Sailors' Union of the Pacific, one of seven unions involved in the maritime walkout.

At Baltimore, tugboat workers refused to try to go through picket lines thrown about the city's tug docks, while some 2,500 stevedores decided to return to work.

STEEL UNION PLANS USE OF SOUND TRUCKS

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 21.—(AP)—Labor union leaders began tonight a careful check of plans for a faster and more spectacular campaign beginning January 4 to bring their steel organization drive to a quick climax.

They said the plans call for employment of larger "flying squadrons" of organizers, augmented by recent recruits, who with loud-speaking sound trucks and other equipment will carry the union arguments to the gates of every big steel mill.

The first squadron—about 25 automobiles and 15 men—swept into Weirton, W. Va., stronghold of E. T. Weir's Weirton Steel Company, several weeks ago in its initial operation.

For decades union organizers have complained of inability to work in many communities because of opposition from company and municipal officials.

Now, said Philip Murray, chief lieutenant of John Lewis in the six-month-old drive, that has changed.

He ascribed what he termed the "highly satisfactory success" of his flying squadrons in the past few weeks to "the same change in thought which brought about the re-election of President Roosevelt."

heart of the chief than the Opportunities campaign.

These, with other gifts of yesterday, raise the total Opportunities fund to date to $2,350.90. This leaves approximately $900 yet to be raised, if all 10 of the families whose pitiful stories of need we have laid before you, day by day during the past two weeks, are to be provided for for the coming year. The job is about seven-tenths done. There remain but three days to complete it. We must have an average of at least $300 a day from now until Christmas morning in order that the bells of Christmas joy may ring for all 10 of these Atlanta families.

If the stream of gifts should mount to more than the $500 needed for the 10, there are, waiting on our list, other families whose need is hardly second to those chosen for the original ten. We can use, in the grandest manner possible, every dollar you can give. Don't delay, please. Let us carry the glad tidings of the birth of hope for another year to as many troubled hearts as we can, this Christmas time.

21 AMERICAS APPROVE 37 PEACE PROPOSALS AS MEET NEARS CLOSE

Delegate Expresses Hope
F. D. R.'s 'Good Neighbor' Policy Will Continue.

BUENOS AIRES, Dec. 21.—(AP)—Thirty-seven projects designed to strengthen peace and economic ties among the 21 American republics were approved today as the inter-American peace conference wound up its formal deliberations.

Practically all that remained on the state of the three-week-old parley was a program of addresses Wednesday by delegation chiefs, including United States Secretary of State Cordell Hull.

With adoption of the 37 measures, the parley had sanctioned 60 projects, covering a wide field of inter-American relations.

Delegates heard an expression of M. Cestero, that President Roosevelt's "good neighbor" policy would "become a permanent policy of all future United States administrations."

Roosevelt Landed.

In similar phrases the United States executive has been praised by Latin-American delegates throughout the conference which heard his plea for inter-American co-operation and a united stand against outside aggression at the opening session December 1.

Among measures adopted was a Central American recommendation for solidarity among the American republics providing for consultation if the rights of any American state are injured, prohibiting the use of force, intervention and collection of debts by force, declaring all disputes between American nations must be submitted to arbitration, and stating the juridical equality of all the American republics.

Other projects adopted included:

Arms Pacts.

A Chilean recommendation that nations arrange bilateral arms limitation agreements.

A Uruguayan resolution condemning the use of poison gas, liquid fire and bacteria in warfare.

A United States recommendation for lowering tariff barriers and giving all American nations equal trade opportunities.

A proposal that nonmembers of the League of Nations, which signed the 1933 anti-war pact prepared by Argentine Foreign Minister Carlos Saavedra Lamas, and the Kellogg-Briand peace pact, co-operate with the League in efforts to prevent and end wars.

A resolution urging all countries to put in practice recommendations of the 1935 Pan-American commercial conference, including creation of a special inter-American tourist passport and establishment of commercial arbitration boards.

Other measures sought to cement peace and stimulate commercial and cultural relations.

Delegates were enthusiastic in their approval of the steps taken by the conference.

No Arms Race.

The resolutions for arms limitation and elimination of chemical warfare, said Luis Barros Borgoño, a Chilean delegate, "prove that the fever of the armaments race has no place in America," while in other continents it "leads to economic disaster."

Cuba's secretary of state, Jose Manuel Corriente, asserted:

"The conference has produced peace instruments which remove the fear of war in America, enabling the American continent to go forward in economic recovery."

her husband might not be home for Christmas.

Officials pushing the hunt centered here made no attempt to conceal their dejection at the end of a week in which thousands have combed mountain wilderness and some 30 planes have hunted from the air.

"But," said Allan Barrie, youthful vice-president of Western Air, "we are not giving up."

Tonight, Barrie announced he was "closing down the Salt Lake end of the hunt."

"We have run down every covey in this area," he said. "We are moving our intensive search to the area between Milford and Delta."

The plane last was heard from when the pilot landed from over Milford early last Tuesday that "everything was 'O. K.'"

Milford is 70 miles southwest of here. Delta is 70 miles north of Milford on the regular Los Angeles to Salt Lake City air course.

Lieutenant Cooper reported sighting the Northwest Air Lines' craft. He said the wreckage was at the top of Cemetery Ridge near Cedar, Ida.

"There is no question that both men are dead," said Cooper, "because we sighted the wings about 200 feet down the mountainside from where the fuselage appeared to be. The forest in that vicinity was burned over in 1910, and the wreckage is out in a clearing. I could not say whether the fuselage burned or not as the weather was poor and visibility was bad."

Weather Aids Searchers.

Weather remained on the side of the searchers. The forecast for the region was generally cloudy, but no storms.

Aboard Western Air Express craft, which left Los Angeles just a week ago tonight, were: Pilot L. J. Samson, Co-Pilot William Bogen and Stewardess Gladys Witt, and the passengers, Mr. and Mrs. John P. Wolfe, of Chicago; Henry W. Edwards, of Minneapolis; and Carl Christopher, of Dwight, Ill.

While scattered ground-searching groups at points all the way from Salt Lake City to Milford, Utah, 180 miles southwest of here, again trudged over mountain regions today, another radio report such as several discussed previously was heard in Sacramento, Cal.

Operator M. R. Williamson said he heard an unidentified man's voice call faintly, "Come quick. Can not open door."

Searchers, who until a few days ago might have clutched eagerly at such a clue, only shook their heads.

works administrator, and Chairman John G. Winant, of the Federal Security Board, while tonight he attended a dinner given in his behalf by Frank Neely, manager of an Atlanta department store. A number of government officials were invited to meet the visiting Georgians.

Tomorrow the series of conferences will be continued, all with a view of meeting federal officials and familiarizing the group with problems in which the state and federal government are mutually interested. In each case Mr. Rivers, who ran as a strong supporter of the Roosevelt administration, had pledged the full co-operation of his administration.

Before returning to Atlanta Tuesday night the Governor-elect plans to see Secretary of Commerce Daniel C. Roper, Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins and call at the White House to pay his respects to President Roosevelt.

Warmly Greeted.

Mr. Rivers was warmly greeted at the Bureau of Public Roads, where numerous squabbles over Georgia federal highway funds have been the rule rather than the exception during the past three years, under Governor Talmadge. With something of his past experience in mind, Chief MacDonald assured the incoming Governor he was pleased to look forward to a period of co-operation with the state officials.

In a recapitulation of bureau activities Chief MacDonald told his callers that upwards of $13,000,000 in unexpended balance will be available to Georgia for highway and grade crossing construction with the beginning of 1937. Approximately $3,400,000 of emergency highway funds appropriated by congress during the past two years, together with $4,000,000 of grade crossing elimination funds, neither of which requires matching dollar for dollar, is being held to the credit of the state in the federal treasury here, he said. In addition, the state has a balance of more than $8,000,000 in regular federal aid highway appropriations which must be matched.

Mr. MacDonald told Governor-elect Rivers the reason the Georgia funds had not been expended was due to incompetent organization of the State Highway Board engineering force, long a source of contention between him and Governor Talmadge. The thought was left that the state board chose to spend state highway revenues on strictly state projects rather than use the money to match federal funds for projects which would have involved federal supervision. Only in this way, it was said, could it be explained why so large a balance of unexpended federal funds remains on hand.

MacDonald Invited Here.

As a means of assuring the fullest co-operation between the State Department and the Federal Roads Bureau, Governor-elect Rivers joined with Senator Spivey and Speaker Harris in inviting Mr. MacDonald to come to Atlanta after the legislature convenes and appear before the proper legislative committees in an effort to work out highway department reorganization plans. A definite day for his visit to the state capital is to be set later.

At the same time Mr. Rivers asked Mr. MacDonald to furnish him with a complete report on the status of all federal highway funds available to Georgia. He said he desired the report as of the date the new state administration takes office in order to know the proper approach to the situation.

As an interesting sidelight on the conference the governor-elect assured Mr. MacDonald of his intention to build the much-controverted Ball's Ferry bridge over Oconee river, which was the chief source of contention between Governor Talmadge and the bureau chief when the latter's administration of federal highway funds was held up.

Just as with Mr. MacDonald, Governor-elect Rivers in his call on both Secretary Ickes and Chairman Winant assured the officials his chief purpose in coming to Washington was to pledge co-operation of the new state administration with Roosevelt administration heads in all matters affecting their common interests.

Besides those named the conference were participated in by Charles S. Reed, of Atlanta, chairman of the new state Democratic executive committee; William W. Crowley, of Atlanta, vice president of the Fulton National Bank; and J. Harold Saxton, of Quitman, president of the Georgia Education Association, all of whom accompanied the governor-elect to Washington.

'QUAKE DEATH TOLL PLACED AT 1,300'

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras, Dec. 21.—(AP)—The death toll of earthquake victims in San Vincente, El Salvador, was placed at 1,300 in unofficial and unconfirmed reports which reached Tegucigalpa tonight.

An official message said that by 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon more than 400 bodies had been identified in the ruined city, while first arrivals in San Salvador had placed the number of bodies recovered at about 200.

A Honduran aviator, Alonso Fiallos, who flew over the San Vincente area, declared he estimated the dead in San Vincente alone at more than 1,000.

Fiallos reported that 15 smaller towns in the vicinity of San Vincente were partially destroyed.

AT CATASTROPHE

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21.—(AP)—President Roosevelt today dispatched this message to President Martinez, of El Salvador, scene of a disastrous earthquake:

"I am deeply distressed at the catastrophe which has occurred in El Salvador and in my own name and that of the American government and people I extend heartfelt sympathy to your excellency and the people of El Salvador."

U.S. ARMS EMBARGO ACT

had, they said, removed all question of the constitutionality of the present neutrality act.

The law, approved in 1934, and continued by the last session of congress, will expire so far as its embargo powers are concerned on May 1. They provide for an embargo on direct munitions of war to be applied immediately on the outbreak of hostilities between two foreign nations.

The case before the court today was a separate piece of legislation enacted to deal only with the recent war between Bolivia and Paraguay. Under it the President was authorized to forbid sale in this country of munitions destined for use in the Chaco.

Inclusion of Funds.

When the present general neutrality law was proposed and more particularly when it was renewed last winter, the administration openly sought the inclusion of authority for the President to prohibit shipments of potential munitions—such as cotton, wheat, steel, and the like as well as actual guns and ammunition.

This proposal, together with certain other recommendations which some senators thought would abridge the doctrine of freedom of the seas, encountered protests in congress, with the result that new legislation was abandoned for the time being and the 1934 law re-enacted.

Consider Whole Subject.

With the new congress, the whole subject will be open to reconsideration. Officials of the administration readily predicted that the ban on raw materials would be enacted this time, although they foresaw, too, vigorous objections from a minority in the senate.

The law on which the court passed today is now actually non-existent since it expired when the Chaco ended. However, action had been brought against a group of individuals and corporations on charges of selling machine guns to Bolivia.

The defendants were: The Curtis Wright Export Corporation, the Curtis Aeroplane and Motor Company, Inc., the Barr Shipping Corporation, John S. Allard, Clarence W. Webster, Samuel J. Ablow and Robert Barr, all of New York. Lower courts upheld their contention that the Chaco embargo and the resolution authorizing it were unconstitutional.

McReynolds Dissenting.

With only Associate Justice McReynolds dissenting, the court ruled in an opinion delivered by Associate Justice Sutherland:

"It is important to bear in mind that we are here dealing not alone with an authority vested in the President by an act of congress, but with the exercise of an inherent power, with such an authority plus the very delicate, plenary and exclusive power of the President as the sole organ of the federal government in the field of international relations—a power which does not require as a basis for its exercise an act of congress, which, of course, like every other governmental power, must be exercised in subordination to the applicable provisions of the constitution."

"It is quite apparent that if, in the maintenance of our international relations, embarrassment—perhaps serious embarrassment—is to be avoided and success for our aims achieved, congressional legislation which is to be made effective through negotiation and inquiry within the international field must often accord to the President a degree of discretion and freedom from statutory restriction which would not be admissible were domestic affairs alone involved."

"Moreover, he, not congress, has effort to provide relief without refunding bonds.

Billmore Taxes.

Action of congress on the Billmore hotel taxes came after Mrs. Candler made a personal appearance before the tax committee immediately preceding congress's session and told congressmen that by acquiring the tax bill, she could consummate a deal whereby she could continue operation of the West Peachtree street hotel in accordance with the plans of her husband, the late William Candler. She said Mr. Candler had invested nearly $7,000,000 in the hotel and that his estate was built around it. She proposed to pay cash for the bill, in order to negotiate with bondholders. There is a $1,000,000 debt against the hotel, she said.

Council voted to allow her to buy the hotel on the basis of a $1,000,000 assessment of 1932, 1933 and 1934, when actual assessments ranged from $1,600,000 to $1,085,000. The assessments, paid for 1935 and 1936, were for a million each year. This action made taxes for 1937 through 1939 amount to approximately $15,000 each year, totaling $45,000 with interest.

The hotel had paid about $15,000 on these years and therefore the sum to be paid will amount to $30,000, including interest.

It was provided that this concession was only to Mrs. Candler and null and void after 30 days. Councilman William G. Hastings opposed referring the tax matter to the 1937 council and forced its issue yesterday.

Erlanger Tax Claim.

The tax committee refused to take up back taxes on the Erlanger theater at the special meeting.

Bond Almond, assistant city attorney, was named by council to represent the city at the coming sessions of the legislature.

A notice from Fulton county commissioners of their refusal to acquire property for the extension of Mitchell street from Capitol square to Fair street was referred to the 1937 street committee.

The committee extended acquiring contracts held by the Meador Construction Company and the Pine Street Improvement Company to the approval of the 1937 council.

The body adopted a vote of thanks to Miss Gay B. Shepperson, state PWA administrator, and to Houseman Johnston, director of PWA, and J. Durrett, district PWA engineer, for co-operation on public projects during the year.

The aldermanic board concurred in all actions of council.

GOMEZ' IMPEACHMENT

drew their weapons left the floor as a protest against the incident.

The President in his message said he opposed the army's action toward opening rural schools because the duty belonged to the civil powers.

"Unconstitutional."

He said he considered the effort to finance the schools through the sugar tax bill was not constitutional and was an effort to take away executive powers from the President.

The bill, he said, "takes away from me and denies to me facilities which the constitution confers on the President of the republic and I feel required in defense of the jurisdiction that belongs to me not to give the bill my approval which would be equivalent to sanctioning the cutting off of powers delegated to me and not transmissible."

He said that he "as chief of the state must see that there should not be continued reflection of the orbit of civil administration whose rights and prestige I must maintain."

President Gomez said it was "the duty of the educational and not the military institutions to teach the children of Cuba."

"Military schools are necessary for the education of men who will later follow the profession of bearing arms and is indispensable for fomenting severe discipline, which is necessary in an institution whose object is the defense of the country."

"But for the formation of citizens who later will exercise the rights of democracy, it is the civil education, directed by teachers and not by soldiers, that a republican regime needs. It is peace and the exercise of citizenship should be put in the spirit of childhood."

Fears Class Division.

The chief executive, in what might be his last official message to a congressional body, said "an imperative of my conscience compels me not to hide that the bill arouses in my soul fears of a possible division of the people into antagonistic classes, separating the Cuban family—never divided until now by sentiments of religion, caste nor race."

The President has refused to resign and yield to Colonel Fulgencio Batista, army chief of staff and the ruler behind all Cuban governments since the overthrow of President Gerardo Machado in August, 1933.

Gomez, inaugurated last May as first constitutional President of Cuba since Machado's regime, has refused almost from the beginning to accept dictation from Batista. While on the surface everything has been smooth, informed sources admitted that conflict over authority between the President and the army leaders has smoldered for several months. The clash was brought out into the open with Gomez's opposition to the sugar tax. Representative Carlos Frayle, one of the President's closest friends, said the chief executive would ask the right to appear personally before the senate to fight impeachment.

LANDON AND F. D. R.
SWAP 'FISHING LIES'

Defeated G. O. P. Presidential Candidate Is White House Visitor.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21.—(AP)—President Roosevelt and Governor Alf M. Landon swapped "fishing lies" in a quiet chat over a White House desk today, but gave politics a wide berth when the Kansas called on the chief executive and talked for almost an hour.

Calling the visit "a nice one," Landon said they chatted of the President's recent South American trip and of the Governor's fishing vacation in Florida.

"We exchanged fishing lies," Landon said.

At the Republican national headquarters he was shown about by John D. M. Hamilton, national chairman.

On his way to the White House Landon was driven past stands being erected for the inauguration of Mr. Roosevelt January 20.

GERMAN STEAMER SINKS.

EMDEN, Dec. 21.—(UP)—The German steamer Akra, en route from Narvik, Norway, to its home port here, sank in a heavy storm in the Trondheim Fjord. It carried a cargo of 11,500 tons of ore. A second German steamer, the Fielingshaug, rescued 37 of the 38 members of the crew, but the captain went down with his ship.

RAYMOND TOWERY, 24, ATLANTA, IS SLAIN; POLICEMAN ARRESTED

Shooting Occurs on Floating Night Club Near Pensacola.

Raymond Towery, 24, of 798 Boulevard, S. E., a machinist at the Fisher Body Company, was shot to death at 2 o'clock yesterday morning in a floating night club near Pensacola, Fla., with a companion, F. E. McDaniels, Pensacola motorcycle patrolman.

A coroner's jury, after hearing testimony, recommended that the patrolman be charged with manslaughter despite McDaniels' contention that the shooting was accidental. The officer was off duty at the time.

Employees of the night club, a boat moored in Little Bayou, told the investigators that McDaniels had been firing his gun in the air to "celebrate Christmas." They said he had been warned that it was dangerous to discharge the weapon.

The patrolman said that he had entered an automobile and Towery was about to enter when McDaniels' gun slipped between his legs.

"I picked it up," he said, "and it went off. Somebody said 'You've been shot' and I thought they meant me. Then I looked on the ground and there was Towery."

"I got down and felt him all over to see where he was hurt. Then I saw that my hands were bloody and I said 'Oh, my God.'"

Towery, shot through the mouth, died almost instantly. Witnesses told police that the two men had appeared to be on the best of terms. The officer was suspended from the force for 30 days pending a complete investigation. Employees of the night club testified both men had had "several drinks or more."

Mrs. S. L. Towery, mother of the victim, said that her son was in Florida visiting a sister, Mrs. Dan Jordan. She said that he had been gone for several days and was expected to return home Wednesday. Towery had been temporarily out of work during the strike at the body plant. Towery's body was taken to a Pensacola funeral home pending completion of funeral arrangements.

FELTON TAKES OATH AS APPELLATE JUDGE

Talmadge, Who Ousted Him From Commission, Swears in Jurist.

Jule W. Felton, of Montezuma, received the oath of office as a judge of the Georgia court of appeals yesterday.

Governor Talmadge, who ousted Felton from office as a member of the Public Service Commission in 1933, administered the oath.

Felton said the Governor "was very courteous and as nice as he could be." The new judge, who succeeds Frank Jenkins January 1, went into Talmadge's office unscathed.

He said later that no mention was made of the 1933 ouster.

Judge Jenkins took to the supreme court bench next year to succeed Justice Price Gilbert, who is retiring.

Felton was the fourth member of the old public service commission who has been returned to public office. Three others are now on the commission.

'BLACK AREAS' AIDED BY BRITISH BARON

LONDON, Dec. 21.—(P)—Baron Nuffield, a former bicycle racer who became head of one of Britain's largest motorcycle manufacturing corporations, tonight added to a reputation for large and startling benefactions by announcing a donation of 2,000,000 pounds ($10,000,000) to help rehabilitate Britain's "black areas."

The donor explained he wanted to "give practical shape to current expressions of good will toward King George and at the same time do anything I can to support the national government, particularly Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin."

The baron, formerly Sir William Morris, chairman of Morris Motors, Limited, who expanded a small bicycle shop into a vast industrial organization, has now given a total of 7,000,000 pounds ($35,000,000) in public benefactions in the last 10 years.

NORBECK DEATH GIVES ARRESTED S. D. OFFICIAL COMMANDING POSITION

Governor Stymied by Lieutenant Governor's Refusal To Resign.

PIERRE, S. D., Dec. 21.—(P)—Out of the welter of discussion brought by the sudden death of United States Senator Peter Norbeck, Republican, South Dakota, yesterday, Lieutenant Governor Robert Peterson, stood as key man in a highly snarled political situation.

While plans were made at Redfield for Norbeck's funeral tomorrow, speculation over his successor stirred in the state capital, where the lieutenant governor presided over the state senate as a special legislative session opened.

Peterson, arrested Saturday on charges of embezzlement in connection with closing of the First National Bank of Centerville, of which he was president, indicated Saturday he would resign his state office, but apparently changed his mind after Senator Norbeck's death. He declined any further comment on his intentions.

Speculation after Norbeck's death centered about the possibility of Governor Tom Berry resigning to be appointed to the senate. If Berry wants the post—and many thought he does—Peterson obviously is in a strategic position.

Berry, a Democrat, is empowered to fill Norbeck's unexpired term. He had planned to appoint a lieutenant governor if Peterson resigned and apparently was taken back by the latter's refusal to quit.

Berry remained silent.

There was no official comment as to whether Peterson would appoint Berry senator if the latter desired.

Meanwhile several other potential aspirants for the Norbeck vacancy were mentioned. They included Herbert E. Hitchcock, Democratic state chairman; George Philip, federal district attorney; Lewis W. Bicknell, of Webster, state welfare commission chairman; and Mark Sheafe, water-town attorney.

MISSING CHILD, 2, RETURNS TO HOME

Tot, Missing 24 Hours, Suffers Several Scratches, Chapped Hands.

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., Dec. 21.—(P)—Two-year-old Charles Warren, lost in a winter woods for more than 24 hours, wandered into a farm house four miles from his home late today apparently unharmed.

Searchers said the missing youngster toddled into the home of a Mrs. Lov at 4:45 p. m.

The scantily clad child suffered no serious ill effects from his experience. His face was chapped and his body bore several scratches from his wandering in the woods.

Carried to the Army and Navy hospital, he underwent an immediate examination. Doctors said that outside of suffering from hunger and exposure he was none the worse for the adventure. He was released shortly afterward.

"I want some oatmeal," the child cried upon being reunited with his family. The breakfast cereal was the first he had eaten before disappearing yesterday afternoon after following his father who had gone into a woods to cut a Christmas tree.

Searchers expressed the belief that the child had sighted a neighbor girl in the woods and had followed her to the house.

The finding of the tot ended a search in which more than 200 national guardsmen, aided by citizen-posses, had participated.

Christmas preparations, abruptly halted by his disappearance, were resumed tonight in the small home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Warren.

PLAN TO AID FARMERS TO BE OWNERS URGED

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21.—(P)—Chairman Jones, Democrat, Texas, of the house agriculture committee, said today that "persons engaged in the task" of the new congress is to enact a program to help farm tenants become farm owners.

He said two methods of approach probably would be used. Under one of them large tracts would be purchased, cut up and sold to tenants for farming under supervision. The other plan would be to purchase individual farms and sell them to tenants selected by local committees.

In both instances, Jones said, payment should be over a long period at low interest.

He also urged partial tax exemption for the small farm owner.

Kidnaped General and Wife Reviewing Nursing Staff

General Chiang Kai-shek, kidnap victim, in a recent coup by Marshal Chang Hsueh-liang, rebel leader, is shown here with his American-educated wife reviewing the nursing staff-girls who have volunteered their services in the case of war. General Chiang was taken prisoner December 12 by the rebels and his fate has since been in doubt. Belief was circulated in Nanking that Chang is demanding large sums of money for the release of the Chinese generalissimo.

side with convergence of Nanking and other important government officials and their families were massacred when General Yu's army seized control of the city.

Reports of the uprising at Lanchow said that several other potential aspirants for the Norbeck vacancy were mentioned. They included Herbert E. Hitchcock, Democratic state chairman; George Philip, federal district attorney; Lewis W. Bicknell, of Webster, state welfare commission chairman; and Mark Sheafe, water-town attorney.

General Yu long had been associated closely with Marshal Chang, leader of the revolt. He served as an army commander in Manchuria when Marshal Chang was overlord of that region. He also is known to share the rebel leader's bitter hatred of Japan.

He commanded some troops the Japanese army ejected from Manchuria in 1931-32, again fought the Japanese when they stormed the passes of the Great Wall in 1933.

Anxiety of Nanking's harassed leaders were further increased by the arrival from Shanghai of the Japanese ambassador, Shigenori Kawaguchi, who was understood to have come to the capital with a message of warning for the central government.

He was reported to have instructions from Tokyo to tell the Nanking regime Japan would be compelled to act if the settlement reached with the Shensi rebels proved detrimental to Japan's interests. Among demands of Marshal Chang was one for resistance to Japan and readmission of Manchuria in 1931-32, again fought the Japanese when they stormed the passes of the Great Wall in 1933.

The scene quickly turned to the year 1908 when it discovered a man and a pensioner comfortably installed in a luxurious social security home while President Roosevelt, then in his ninth term, looked forward with increasing confidence to balancing the budget.

"Ikesovitch."

Another curtain, and guests saw the Russian steps where Tovarich Stalin sat in his home at Hyde Park. The Volga received election returns surrounded by his friends, Ikesovitch, Hopkins and Morgenhausen.

"It is a solemn mandate from the people," cried Ikesovitch. Morgenhausen timidly suggested spending five billion dollars to buy up the steel mills and to the steel workers, but Stalin insisted that in four more years the workers would have the mills anyway.

"I've got it," said Hopkins, "we'll buy up everything and give it to everybody."

Bemoaning Returns.

Turning bravely to the works of Richard Wagner the journalistic thespians presented their own "Twilight of the Gods." On the heights of the Empire State building sat such Jeffersonians as "Wotan Shouse" and "Brunnhilde Alice Longworth," bemoaning the November election returns.

Their laments were interrupted by Shouse's cry "Here comes Siegfried Smith."

Al Smith's prostrate form was borne in on a stretcher and Mime—the little giant—Raskob revived Smith by restoring to him his brown derby.

Asked to give a message containing his opinion of Franklin D. Roosevelt, the unhappy warrior burst into song entitled "He Turned the Tables on Me."

The scene shifted to the "Down and Out Research Laboratory" and physicians were found performing on the stark, stiff form of the G. O. P.

Send for Heart.

"Well," give them to the steel workers for heart. Death resulted from premature senile inability."

They removed a full dinner pail from the stomach, bunches of grass from the alimentary tract, an appendix "tied in Knox," ab it of Borah from the esophagus, a Ham Fish bone from the larynx and "a touch of Lemke from the J. David Sternum." The G. O. P. then arose and allowed he felt good enough to run again in 1940.

In a scene a motley crew of fresh congressmen were taught by Pat Boland, Democratic whip, to sound a sonorous "Yes." They were promised

NEWTON A. JOHNSON LAID TO FINAL REST

Funeral services for Newton A. Johnson, resident of Atlanta for more than 30 years, and an employee of the Georgia Power Company, who died Sunday at a private hospital, were held at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon at Spring Hill.

Mr. Johnson, who lived in Kirkwood, was an active member of the Kirkwood Baptist church and the men's Bible class of that church. Dr. K. O. White officiated at the rites and burial was in West View cemetery.

CHARTER IS GRANTED FOR BANK OF TIFTON

Opening of Institution May Be Delayed, Awaiting Court Rulings.

Secretary of State John B. Wilson issued a charter last yesterday for the Farmers Bank of Tifton, but the new institution may be prevented from starting business until the supreme court rules in an injunction suit.

Judge E. E. Pomeroy, of Fulton superior court, denied the request for an injunction yesterday, but issued a supersedeas order which will prevent Superintendent of Banks R. B. Tippets from delivering a permit to do business until the question of a supreme court appeal is settled.

In the injunction petition on which Judge Pomeroy ruled, Ralph Tucker, of Tifton, attacked the right of Robert Tippets to serve as state superintendent of banks. Tippets was appointed to the office by Governor Talmadge after he had removed R. E. Gormley.

A suit was pending against Gormley at the time to force him to issue a charter for the bank, and while the proceedings were pending, one of the applicants for the first charter joined with a group of other Tifton residents to file application for a charter under a new name. When Tippets assumed office, he approved the latter application.

Puckett alleged Tippets had no legal right to the office since Gormley could be removed only upon accusation in the office, the law provided for the assistant superintendent to become acting superintendent until the senate could confirm a new appointment.

In throwing out the injunction Judge Pomeroy ruled the plaintiff had no legal interest in the case, that the state was a party to the suit and had not given necessary permission to be sued, and that the rest of Tippets' claim on the office should come in an injunction suit in a court of equity.

RAIN IS HEADED HERE; SHORT STAY FORECAST

Rain will return to Atlanta again today but, according to the weatherman, the storm that is headed this way from the Texas gulf coast is not expected to last so long as last week's dampness.

Yesterday was the shortest day of the year; shortest, but sweetest in view of the friendly sun and the bracing atmosphere after the previous week's long siege of clouds and rainfall.

In addition, yesterday marked the official beginning of the winter season at 6:27 p. m. Atlanta time.

From now until June 21, the days will grow longer but from now, until March or April, the temperatures may be expected to be lower.

Temperatures today will start at about 38 degrees but with the promise of clouds and rains later in the afternoon, the weatherman is making no promises about the thermometer during the afternoon.

ROOSEVELT TO MERGE RA WITH FARM BODY

Consolidation of 2 Departments Previously Urged by Tugwell.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21.—(P)—President Roosevelt decided today to make the Resettlement Administration a part of the Agriculture Department in his first major move toward consolidating government agencies.

Secretary Wallace revealed after a White House conference the change would be made by presidential order about January 1, Rexford G. Tugwell, who recently resigned as resettlement administrator to become an executive for a large mail company, and Dr. W. W. Alexander, whom Tugwell picked as his successor, joined in discussing the move with Mr. Roosevelt.

The Resettlement Administration was established as an emergency agency April 30, 1935, by the President.

It has been in charge of buying and retiring from cultivation vast tracts of poor crop land, and has conducted experiments in resettling farmers and housing suburban populations. It also had adjusted some farm debts and aided drought-stricken farm families.

What activities will be continued, and whether the resettlement organization will direct the tenant aid program now being formulated by the administration, were not disclosed.

Tugwell previously urged the shifting of resettlement to the Agriculture Department, and Wallace thought it logical because "98 per cent of resettlement activities are agricultural."

An announcement of consolidation came while presidential and congressional committees were studying the possibility of merging numerous government establishments.

The resettlement agency's personnel has been reduced to about 14,000 from 20,000. Many proposed projects have been held up with the explanation that all funds were needed for relief of drought-stricken farmers.

With a vast new program to aid farm tenants under discussion at present, Tugwell and other resettlement officials have suggested that the agency's experience in that field be utilized.

RUSSIA TO EXTEND JAP FISH TREATY

Moscow Agrees to Temporarily Pact at Expiration of Current One.

MOSCOW, Dec. 21.—(AP)—Hopes for averting serious trouble between Japan and Russia over Japanese fishing rights in Russia far eastern waters brightened tonight.

It was learned the Moscow government had agreed in principle to temporary extension of those rights beyond December 31, their present limit, pending negotiations of a new agreement.

The temporary extension was obtained by the Japanese ambassador, Mamoru Shigemitsu, after he failed four times last week to obtain the Moscow government's signature to the convention previously drawn up.

This convention was reported ready for signature in November, but when Moscow learned of Japan's anti-Communist pact with Germany the Russians refused to sign.

Dispatches from Tokyo Sunday suggested Japan might use her overwhelming superiority of naval strength in the far east to enforce her rights, disregarding the expiration of the present convention.

SKATES RULED VEHICLE BY ILLINOIS JUDGE

KANKAKEE, Ill., Dec. 21.—(AP)—A child roller skating on a highway, is a vehicle, not a pedestrian, Judge W. H. Hunter so ruled today, awarding $1,781 damages to James B. Maas, 12, permanently crippled when run down by J. O. Workman's automobile.

The defendant's plea that the boy was on the right side of paving, disregarding warnings that pedestrians should use the opposite side, was of no avail. Judge Hunter held, because young Maas was traveling "by mechanical means."

HIGH COURT JUDGE BREAKS GAME LAW

Justice Van Devanter Hunts Ducks Without License.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21.—(AP)—A story of how a supreme court justice ran afoul of a law designed to give the nation's ducks a new deal came to light today.

Justice Willis Van Devanter, who has looked askance at much New Deal legislation, went duck shooting a few days ago with the Rev. Zellarney T. Phillips, senate chaplain, at the Deep Hole Point Club near Occoquan, Va.

The clergyman, who told the story, said he and his companion were getting ready for some fine sport when, instead of ducks, a game warden showed up.

The game warden said he assumed the men had their stamps.

Duck hunters, under the law, must equip themselves with a $1 revenue stamp, the proceeds are to be used to provide ducks with nesting grounds and other conveniences.

The clergyman had his stamp. The justice had none.

After hearing the justice declare he had known nothing of the law, and that he would hasten to the nearest postoffice to get his stamp, the warden tipped his hat and withdrew.

Justice Van Devanter declined to comment on the incident today, but the Rev. Mr. Phillips, when asked about it, chuckled and told the story. He expressed great admiration for his hunting companion, whom he termed a "fine outdoor man."

TREASURES OF NEGUS BRING $12,635 AT SALE

LONDON, Dec. 21.—(AP)—A quantity of the silver treasures of Haile Selassie, exiled former monarch of Ethiopia, brought 2,527 pounds ($32,635) at a sale today.

The former monarch, who lives near Bath, did not attend the sale. He said "force of circumstances" caused him to put the silver on the market, but did not divulge his financial position.

Plated goods brought only small prices, but solid English silver sold at high rates.

The collection included thousands of pieces containing 16,000 ounces of silver.

F. D. R. JR. WILL LEAVE FOR CAPITAL THURSDAY

MRS. ALBERT EINSTEIN DIES IN PRINCETON, N. J.

Wife Had Shielded Genius From Plagues of Fame.

PRINCETON, N. J., Dec. 21.—(AP) Professor Albert Einstein secluded himself tonight after the funeral of the 55-year-old wife, who so long had shielded him from the plagues of fame.

The filing of the death certificate disclosed today Frau Elsa Einstein had died yesterday.

The funeral was held this afternoon at the little cottage where the famed scientist and his wife made their home.

"Privacy in their grief" was asked for the noted German scientist, and was enforced so strictly by their associates that even the time of the funeral was unknown outside the most intimate circle.

During their married life, Frau Einstein was a partner in the creation of the abstract mathematical calculations which won the German world-wide renown. She was both the shield which protected the genius from the bumps of the world and the hair-spring which kept it under control.

Whether it was a question of admitting a caller or dropping mathematics for a meal, the wife made the decision. As a rule, the scientist weekly accepted it.

The death certificate listed myocarditis, or inflammation of the heart, as the cause. Informal sources said Frau Einstein had suffered from it for a year, and that she had been seriously ill six weeks. Her condition became critical a fortnight ago.

The Einsteins came to this country from Germany in 1933. The man was an exile who had found a place where he could continue his research as professor of mathematics at the Institute for Advanced Study in Princeton.

The woman was a hausfrau who had pulled up stakes to look after him.

"They make such demands on his time here," was her explanation. "He must have peace in which to think."

Frau Einstein's second wife. They were married in 1914, shortly after Einstein went to Berlin to assume the directorship of the Kaiser Wilhelm Institute for Physics. They were cousins.

Mrs. Margot Maricoff, one of two daughters, and two step-sons survive.

BABY ADOPTIONS ARE FAR OVERBID

2,000 Applications for 'Human Yule Presents' Unfilled in Texas.

KANSAS CITY, Dec. 21.—(AP)—The old woman in the shoe would cackle at this:

Santa Claus has so many orders for babies he doesn't know what to do.

From many hospitals, foundling homes and "cradles" of the nation came word today the supply of adoptable infants on hand can't begin to satisfy the demands of thousands of couples.

A report of Santa's predicament was a report from Mrs. Sam Gladney, superintendent of the Texas Children's Home Aid Society at Fort Worth.

She has received 2,000 applications from would-be parents without being able to fill a single one.

Reaching prosperity, and the decline of the jazz age are among the explanations given for the upswing in adoptions.

Edwin Solomon, secretary of the Children's Aid Society of Pennsylvania, said the higher trend in adoptions is because "middle class persons are feeling secure again due to the pickup in business."

Added to these factors is the inescapable emphasis of the Christmas season on family life.

At Denver, Col., John L. McMenamin, superintendent of a state home, said he has "been swamped for six months."

The state home at Lincoln, Neb., reported a 50 per cent adoption increase over last year. At Detroit the juvenile court noted a "marked increase" in applications, but the supply of babies was exhausted.

On the demand for demand for adoptions was 25 per cent above normal, and institutions at St. Paul, Minn., reported similar increases.

Adoption applications jumped for San Francisco's homeless children's committee from 475 applications last year to 492 already this year. Milwaukee courts reported 178 adoptions in 1936, compared to 125 in 1935.

In spite of the shortage, applicants still express preferences. "Curly headed blue-eyed girls and brown-eyed boys" are by far the most popular types.

MORTGAGE IS BURNED BY M'BRAYER CHURCH

The Rev. H. E. McBrayer, whose declaration that he favored repeal and state-controlled liquor sales caused his ouster from the Methodist Episcopal church, yesterday reported rapid progress of his present Lakewood Heights Interdenominational church, at Miller Reed street and Lakewood avenue.

The mortgage on the one-story brick church building was burned at exercises Sunday night after being paid off several months in advance. Each member of the congregation supplied a match with which to set fire to the paid-off mortgage.

Mr., Mrs. Hastings Keep Open House At Country Home

An interesting event of the week-end was the "open house" to the friends of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Hastings, near Lovejoy.

The lovely home, in typical country setting, was elaborately decorated with Christmas decorations, each room carrying the motif in an interesting manner.

In the living room, yule logs burned in the large open fireplace. Above the mantel hung a festoon of evergreen boughs tied with a silver bow and hung with a sprig of mistletoe while in the center of the mantel was a handsome old tureen filled with white lilies. Bowls of mistletoe adorned the tables.

The Christmas tree in the den was decorated with silver balls, bells, and spun glass. The mantel carried the holiday scheme with red Nandina berries and deep green ivy. Coffee was served in the sunroom, the table adorned with silver service and candles, sticks with cornucopias filled with branches of fragrant Meratia taken in full bloom from the hosts' garden. The dining room featured a combination of green and white. The table was overlaid with a white satin cloth with a wide center band of silver. The central attraction was a grouping of old English silver candelabra with tall burning candles. Placed at each end of the table were miniature trees formed of white carnations and white narcissus. Around the buffet mirror hung a great green wreath of evergreens caught with silver bow and berries, making a fitting background for the old silver punch bowl of silabub flanked by candles.

Receiving with Mr. and Mrs. Hastings were two recent brides and grooms, Mr. and Mrs. Philip Etheridge, of Atlanta, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Turner, of Macon.

Mrs. Ray Hastings and Mrs. Granger Hansell presided at the coffee table, while Mrs. Rutherford Brown, Mrs. H. G. Hastings, Mrs. Charles Winship, Mrs. Joe Road, Mrs. George Suggs, and Miss Catherine Craighead assisted in the dining room.

The hostess wore a white princess lame gown and her flowers were a shoulder spray of orchids. Mrs. Etheridge wore white moire, and Mrs. Turner was gowned in deep red velvet. Mary Louise Hastings, young daughter of the hosts, was lovely in turquoise taffeta made princess style.

Mr. and Mrs. Porter Are Hosts at Party

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Porter were hosts at an appetit party on Sunday at their Tuxedo road home, the event featuring the week-end social calendar and assembling several hundred members of society.

The interior of the home was lavishly decorated with Christmas foliage, the chandeliers being festooned with smilax and holly, and the windows hung with graceful cedar wreaths. Bowls and baskets of red roses added a note of gay color.

The lace-covered table in the dining room was centered with a large bubble bowl filled with gardenias and resting upon a mirror. Red, white and green tapers burned in crystal holders. In one corner of the room stood a huge white Christmas tree, strung with blue lights.

Negri-Barsotti.

Mr. and Mrs. Guido Negri have issued invitations to the marriage of their daughter, Miss Rose Josephine Negri, to Lieutenant Reno Barsotti, of Milan, Italy, the ceremony to take place on January 9 at 10 o'clock in the morning at the Sacred Heart church.

Miss Sage Makes Formal Bow At Reception Given by Mother.

Miss Charlotte Sage, popular debutante daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Dan X. Sage, made her formal bow yesterday afternoon at a reception at which her mother entertained at their home on Inman Circle in Ansley Park. The Yuletide motif was expressed in the elaborate decorations with silver and white predominating in the color scheme.

In the living room where the hostess and a debutante were assisted in receiving by the latter's grandmother, Mrs. John Fletcher Kinsey, palms and foliage plants were grouped in the corners and across the bay window where the trio stood. Innumerable baskets and bouquets of flowers, sent the debutante by her host of friends and admirers, were arranged amongst the foliage plants and on the mantel and bookcases were graceful silver baskets of huge white chrysanthemums.

In the dining room the silver and white motif was effectively carried out, the centerpiece of the lace-covered table being formed of valley lilies arranged on a large flat silver bowl. Silver candelabra, in which gleamed white tapers, added to the beauty of the table's decorations and handsome silver coffee and tea services were arranged at either end of the table. In the sun room, where punch was served, the Christmas atmosphere was expressed by the crimson-colored growing plants and garlands of smilax.

Miss Sage was a striking figure wearing a gown fashioned of blush tulle and silk net made over matching tulle. The full skirt was attached to a bodice made entirely of iridescent sequins and she wore on her left shoulder a garland of delicate pink orchids. She carried an exquisite bouquet formed of white orchids fringed with valley lilies and sweetheart roses and tied with pale pink satin ribbon. Mrs. Sage was attired in delfinium blue crepe trimmed in silver lame and she wore a shoulder cluster of white orchids. Mrs. Kinsey's gown was fashioned of black lace over black satin and she wore a shoulder spray of deep purple orchids.

Presiding over the tea and coffee urns were Mesdames Frank Boland, Marion Benson, George Hillier Jr., Robert Mitchell, Stephen Brown and Callahan McDougall.

Serving punch were Mrs. Sherman Williams, Mrs. Olin Adeock, Misses Elizabeth L'Engle, Christine Thiesen, Betty Gregg, Jean Williams, Alice Davis, Betty Brown, Dorothy Sanford, Margaret Sage and Mary Morris.

Assisting in entertaining were Mesdames George Bland, Philip L'Engle, John Sage, John K. Orr, Leland Baggett, Ewing Dean, Harry Biglin, Robert Ingram, Aubrey Motz, W. B. Williamson Jr., Forrest Barfield, Earl Yancy, Roy Jones, Charles Lordin, Thomas C. Mell, Butler Atkinson, of Madison, Ga., J. B. Burns and John Baldwin.

Following the reception Dr. and Mrs. Sage entertained a small group of Miss Sage's close friends, who are members of Atlanta's 1936-37 Debutante Club, and their escorts, at a buffet supper.

Miss Sage is an unusually attractive young girl and is of the exotic brunet type of beauty. She graduated from Washington Seminary as did her mother, the former Miss Irene Ingram. She studied at King-Smith Studios, in Washington, D. C., last year and was one of the popular visiting belles attending the dances at the United States Naval Academy during her enrollment at school in the national capital.

Each year they sponsor this nursery as their charity for the year. Officers of the club are Misses Bungle Fuller, president, and Betty Yopp, secretary and treasurer. Members are Misses Elizabeth Collier, Ann Bell, Doris Bagwell, Virginia Willis, Margaret Clarke, Ann Woodruff, George Dargan, and Mary Louise Seiple. Members who were taken in last fall are Misses Ellie Murrah, Emelyn Carter, Margaret Greenhaw, Patricia Poole, Marjorie Hobbs, Nancy Calhoun, Caroline Yundt, Gladys Randall, Cora Belle Mason and Mary Jo Brownlee.

men of committees of the auxiliary who gave reports were Mrs. F. C. Becker, rehabilitation; Mrs. L. S. Bellinger, membership; Mrs. Estie G. Holyfield, relief; Mrs. L. L. Hargrove, hospital. Other guests present were Mrs. D. M. Robinson, recreational aide of Hospital No. 48; Mrs. E. R. Williams, state officer of the Service Star Legion, and Mrs. Dickinson, president of the local Service Star Legion. Mrs. Robert Williamson, commander of the auxiliary, presided at the luncheon.

Mrs. Robert Williamson announced the plans for the Christmas party at Hospital 48 on December 29 to be sponsored with the chapter, with L. L. Hargrove as chairman of the chapter hospital committee.

BOSTON RED SOX WIN TOP PLACE AS BIGGEST FLOP

Joe Louis Second; Davis Cup Team, Cubs Disappointed.

NEW YORK, Dec. 21.—(AP)—For finishing sixth in the American league pennant race after being among the red-hot choice to win it, the Boston Red Sox gained the dubious distinction of performing the biggest "flop" of the year.

Thirty-one of 83 experts, almost all stout supporters of the gold-plated Sox when the major league ball season started in April, awarded the booby prize of 1935 to the Bostonians in the sixth annual Associated Press sports poll.

Joe Cronin and his men carried off the "honors" by a margin of more than 2 to 1 over their nearest rival, Joe Louis, whose 12th round knockout by Max Baer was rated disappointment No. 2. The Red Sox polled 93 points, while Louis received 41.

All told baseball landed four places in the "first ten," next to the Red Sox the Chicago Cubs were rated the biggest disappointment, while the form reversal of the St. Louis Cardinals pitching staff and the Detroit Tigers also were cited.

Ohio State's loss of three major games was voted the biggest football flop. Mentioned in the balloting, also, were Washington's selection of Pittsburgh for the Rose Bowl and the failure of Iowa, Kentucky, Georgia Tech, St. Mary's and Fordham to live up to expectations.

Tennis' No. 1 tragedy was the elimination of the American Davis Cuppers on home grounds by Australia; Lawson Little's failure to qualify for the U. S. Open after giving up his amateur status was the biggest blow to golf followers, and the No. 1 disappointment of the 11th Olympiad was the failure of the American Olympic committee to reinstate Eleanor Holm Jarrett, the backstroke swimming queen.

Tabulation of the poll, with points on a 2-21 basis:

Disappointments	Points
1. Collapse of Boston Red Sox, baseball	93
2. Knockout of Joe Louis, heavy-weight boxing	41
3. Elimination of U. S. Davis Cup team by Australia, tennis	39
4. Showing of Chicago Cubs, baseball	37
5. Lawson Little's failure to qualify for U. S. Open, golf	32
6. Collapse of St. Louis Cardinals' pitching staff, baseball	31
7. Loss of three major games by Ohio State, football	30
8. Decline of Bretz as 3-year-old star, horse racing	29
9. Failure of Olympic committee to reinstate Eleanor Holm Jarrett, and slump of Detroit Tigers, baseball	28
10. Failure of Jim Braddock to defend heavyweight title	27
11. Scattered points: 8 each for Iowa and Georgia Tech football teams and Paul Dean, Central's pitcher; 3 each for Jack Torrance, shutoutter; Cleveland Indians, baseball; Don Lash in Olympics, distance foot-racing; and Kentucky football team; 2 each for St. Mary's football team; failure of George Van der, world record holder, to qualify in pole vault for Olympic team; and Washington's selection of Pittsburgh for Rose Bowl, football.	2

There must be times when the fellow walks along, talking to himself, saying:

"The very next person—the very next one—who asks me about it, is going to get punched right in the nose."

Yet he never does.

Roy Riegels, who was in our town yesterday, never does punch in the nose any one of the hundreds who grin and ask him about the time he ran the wrong way in the Georgia Tech-California game in the Rose Bowl on January 1, 1929.

In the first place Riegels knows, no matter how sick he may be of the whole thing, that had it not been for that 59-yard gallop toward his own goal he would be just another football player. As things stand he is something of a hero. Most everyone in reach of newspapers and radio knows who Roy Riegels is and what he did.

Had he not grabbed Stumpy Thomason's fumble he would have remained lost in the welter of football names who just filled in lineups and made a few all-star teams.

He is a splendid gentleman, and a personable one; a fond father of two fine young girls. He laughed when his attention was called to the fact he was married in Reno, Nevada, where so many marriages end.

But he has a philosophy about it all.

"Why don't you punch someone in the nose—making sure he is a little guy?" I asked.

"Oh, well," he said, smiling, "it comes up so often there is no use getting excited about it. I don't mind."

There was a wallop in seeing him and Stumpy Thomason meet after eight years.

Both of them are settled married men but both are still in football. Riegels as a successful coach; Thomason as one of the better pro players.

HOW IT HAPPENED.

Tech had just stopped a drive by the Bears when the stage was set for Riegels. The second quarter was being played as Tech took the ball at its own 25-yard line.

Stumpy Thomason started an end run—the very first play after taking the ball from the Bears—and fumbled at the Tech 40-yard line.

There was a scramble for the ball. Riegels got it, whirled and stepped away from several reaching arms, and then headed for the goal line.

Benny Lom, a teammate, caught up with Riegels at about the 1-yard line and whirled him around. Just then three or four Tech players hit him and the impetus carried the mass over the line.

Riegels did not give Tech the score.

As Lom attempted to kick out, big Vance Maree went through and blocked it. The ball bounded behind the goal and Marr, of California, fell on it for a safety.

Tech later scored a touchdown on two plays, a 30-yard run by Warner Mizell and a 15-yard touchdown gallop by Stumpy Thomason. California scored on a pass in the last minute of play.

One of the best stories of the Riegels play is of one of the California tackle who had been going for the fumble which Riegels got.

"Gee," he said, looking after the racing Riegels, "I'm glad I didn't get that ball. I'd have run the other way."

On the Tech bench the Tech subs were screaming in anguish and yelling for someone to catch Riegels.

Yesterday I asked Stumpy Thomason if he knew Riegels

BOYS' HI PLAYS TO 40,113 PAID IN NINE GAMES

Purples Set Record; Road Games Boost Figure to 53,113.

City Prep Champs To Be Honored

Boy's High city championship football team will be honored guests at the annual banquet at 7 o'clock Wednesday night at the Ansley hotel.

The entire football squad, including the scrubs, officials of the school and newspapermen, have been invited to be present.

Letters and sweaters will be awarded by Coach Doyal, as a feature of the banquet.

Work on the Boys' High football schedule for next year will be suspended until after the holidays.

Only four dates, with Commercial High, Tech High, Miami High and Lanier High have been definitely decided with six others pending.

By Roy White.

A new attendance record for prep football games was set here last year when 40,113 persons saw nine Boys' High games, including the play-off last Saturday afternoon with Lanier High, under the worst playing conditions of the year. And in addition to that total, more than 13,000 persons saw the Spartanburg and Miami High games, showing a grand total of 53,113 persons to see the Purples in action in 1935.

It was by far the greatest prep attendance ever recorded here and the Tech High-Boys' High game with 8,176 paid, and 992 passes, not including coaches, players, visiting players and both hands, led the way.

Lanier High, always a favorite here, was second with 5,032, not including coaches, players and visiting players.

STUDENTS LEAD.

Boys' High students bore the brunt of the attendance with 21,723, almost twice the number of adults, which totaled 10,420. About 4,000 passes, on which a service charge was made, were issued, according to Roy Davis, treasurer of the Boys' High Athletic association.

It would seem from those figures that Boys' High's Athletic Association would be in an excellent financial condition, but it must be recalled that football pays the freight for seven other sports as well as its own.

Prep football paraphernalia costs just as much per player as that of the colleges, and the high schools have to maintain a reserve squad equally as large as the colleges, except for the freshmen.

OTHER EXPENSES.

The football receipts also go to physicians, a trainer and all the necessary training quarters equipment in all sports.

Football is the only high school sport which receives any remuneration. All others are no outgo and no income.

High school dressing rooms are not the most elaborate in the country nor the best in high schools, but the equipment is the best that money can buy. No expense is spared to take care of an injury and immediately after Charley Greer received a broken leg in the Miami game, he was rushed to a hospital and his leg was placed in a cast. And he had to have crutches on the trip home. And that's expensive.

TICKETS CHEAP.

Boys' High sells student tickets for 25 cents, and a majority of their opponents with football but the government recognizes them as students.

Jones, the Southern California gridiron coach, and Bible, who tutors Nebraska, are among a number of prominent figures in athletics who have patented inventions for sports use.

Jones and Bible have patented blocking pads for football players, resulting from their observation of injuries and the necessity for protective equipment.

Rene La Coste, great French Davis cup tennis ace, has several patents in racket structure. Walter Hagen is one of several well-known links stars who have been issued patents. Hagen patented a golf ball.

INVENTED BOOT.

Charles Brickley, famous Harvard drunkenness with football but the government recognizes them as students.

A patent for a football tackling machine was assigned to Harry Mehre, coach of the Georgia football team, which was one of the November sensations of football and which shattered Fordham's Rose Bowl aspirations.

Mehre also turned his inventive ability to perfecting a hurdle for track meets.

Max Carey, one of baseball's most daring base stealers of a few years ago, used a sliding pad of his own devising.

WARNER'S PAD.

Glenn (Pop) Warner, one of the oldest and best known football coaches, now at Temple University in Philadelphia, patented a shoulder pad, Bill Ingram, former member at the United States Naval Academy and the University of California, invented a combination hip and kidney protective pad.

The late Jimmy Delari, who coached at Duke, Washington and Lehigh and other colleges, patented a football amusement game, while H. J. Stegman, athletic director at the University of Georgia, and S. D. Locke devised a golf bag.

Part interest in a patent for an anti-skid boot or sheath for covering footballs in wet or bad weather is assigned to Arthur J. Bergman, Catholic University football coach.

The Principals Talk Over a Famous Football Play

The two players who helped to make football history in one of the "freak" happenings of the sport met yesterday in The Constitution sports department after almost eight years and discussed the play. They are, left to right, Stumpy Thomason and Roy Riegels. It was in the Tech-California Rose Bowl game of January 1, 1929, that Thomason fumbled and Riegels recovered. Whereupon Roy, after starting in the right direction, was twisted around by other Tech players, and ran 59 yards the wrong way. Riegels is now coach at a California high school and one of his proteges, Sam Chapman, right halfback of the Bears, will play here Saturday. Riegels will stay over to see the game. He is the guest of Joe Westbrook, Tech guard who played in the '29 game.

Star California Back Roy Riegels' Protege

Sam Chapman, Right Half, One of Coast's Best Players; Roy Meets Stubby Again.

By Jack Troy.

Roy Riegels, the California football player who gave fans something to remember him by, was sitting in the office yesterday discussing his famous wrong-way run in a very cheerful manner indeed.

He looked up. Framed in the doorway was little Hercules, known in the professional football trade and to all Tech football men as Stumpy Thomason. He played with the Brooklyn Eagles this past season.

"Well, well," Riegels said, "It has been a long time, Stumpy."

"Why, hello, Roy," exclaimed Stumpy. "I'll say it has. Almost eight years. I thought you were on the coast."

RIVALS MEET.

Thus came about the meeting after almost eight years of Thomason, who fumbled, and Riegels, the great center who recovered the ball and ran 59 yards in the wrong direction.

That all happened in the Tech-California Rose Bowl game of January 1, 1929. Few remember it was Stumpy who fumbled or Benny Lom who finally brought Riegels down from behind on Tech's one-yard line.

Riegels gave them something to remember him by. He made a natural mistake. He was running in the right direction at first. Then two or three Tech players hit him, twisted him around, and he kept on running—but the wrong way.

DIDN'T REALIZE.

"I'll have to admit, Roy," Stumpy said yesterday, "that I didn't realize at first you were running the wrong way."

Riegels was an All-California center that year and the year after. He was a great center. The mistake did not affect his play at all. He was very philosophical about it, as he is today.

Today he is coach of a California high school. And a very good one, too.

In fact, he will stay over for the Tech-California game Saturday and see one of his star pupils play.

COACHED CHAPMAN.

Riegels' current Sam Chapman at Tamalpais High school in California. Chapman now is regular right halfback of the Golden Bears and said by critics to be potentially one of the greatest coast backs of all time.

So Roy Riegels has done well by himself since graduating from California. He was married several years ago at Reno, Nev. He is the father of two fine girls.

Stumpy asked him if he had ever noticed the comment made in the papers at the time of his marriage. Riegels said he hadn't.

"Why they said, of all things, Roy Riegels, who ran the wrong way, was

THIS WEAKNESS COST ENGINEERS SEVERAL GAMES

Preston, Chivington Look Good; Another Skirmish Is Scheduled.

By Jack Troy.

One little matter remains to be seen concerning that Tech-California clash Saturday afternoon at Grant field.

In fact it amounts to a question. And the question before the house this morning is: Can Tech stop the passing attack of the Golden Bears from Berkeley?

It's the little things that count. But completion of passes in a sort of regular fashion does not amount to little things.

If Tech could have kept Joe Kilgrow from completing two touchdown passes and setting the stage for a third touchdown with another pass, Alabama would not have beaten Tech.

Duke beat Tech on passes. And it seems to me that Georgia did a little passing that counted in the final analysis, too. Not to mention Auburn.

So there is a question that remains unsettled.

It may be that Tech, with Captain FitzSimons sure to be able to play part of the game and with Charley Preston going great guns at tackle in scrimmage, can check a lot of the vaunted California power. Jack Chivington is going to do all right at center, it seems.

FITZSIMONS BACK.

Captain FitzSimons returned to the squad yesterday, but did not dress. That is to say, he attended the morning drill in civilian clothes. He probably will dress today. He's still weak following a week in the hospital caused by a leg infection, but is rapidly recovering his strength.

Tech has a quartet of rugged ends who will prove pretty tough to get around.

And so it all goes right back to the original question: Can they stop those Golden Bear Passes?

Tech's defense against aerials has been one of the most questions and weak points all season. As if the Jackets were operating on one of the soundest ways of stopping passes. That simply amounts to the unceasing rushing of the passer.

In scrimmage against a mixed Bee and freshman team, the Jackets were really going after the passer and knocking him down. Consequently, the Bears gained no ground to speak of through the air.

CHIVINGTON ALERT.

And once there Chivington, who is very alert back of the line, intercepted a pass and ran for a touchdown.

The fact remains, however, that the mixed opposition, while pretty rugged, does not contain the strength, speed or power to compare with, say, the California second team.

And so the pass defense was not such as to elicit loud yells of delight. It looks improved, but it has not been tested out on the real proving ground, which will be Grant Field of a Saturday afternoon four days hence.

In the scrimmage yesterday morning, Tech's defense was impressive. Allen Wilcox, playing guard with a couple of cracked ribs, stood out. Red Collins, right tackle, was up the line. All this was on defense.

Neither Coach Alex nor any of his aids was pleased with the varsity's work on defense. The scrimmage could not, for the life of him, block the opposing left end. He did it just once all morning.

Then, too, answer Coach Alex asked all morning finally went unanswered. That was: "What are you going to do about Carmack?"

Little Eddie Carmack is a whale of a guard. He weighs a little more than 150 pounds. But he can slide along a line, or he can break through an offensive line and break up more plays than any 200-pounder around.

Eddie was drafted by the Bee team for purposes of a scrimmage. And he gave his varsity a real double trouble. The Bears will see him Saturday. And here's hoping some of them on the line take him lightly.

But, for the most part, blocking was not so good.

And when the second team faced the Bears, they were very impatient on offense. They didn't get anywhere.

So there will be another scrimmage. Yesterday's was supposed to be the last one. But Coach Alex said afterwards that he was not pleased. "We can't quit scrimmaging after such a showing as that," he declared.

And one little matter remains to be seen. Can Tech stop the pitching and catching combination of Vic Botchari, ace back, and Henry Sparks, fleet and powerful left end?

Green To Succeed Hubert as Mentor

HATTIESBURG, Miss., Dec. 21.—(AP)—Reed Green, assistant football coach at Mississippi State Teachers College, will replace Head Coach Pooley Hubert next year.

Hubert resigned to become coach at Virginia Military Institute at Lexington.

Green, a native of Lexington, Miss., starred in football, basketball and baseball at a student here. He graduated in 1934.

EAST AND WEST TO START DRILLS

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 21.—(AP)—Collegiate football stars of the east and west enjoyed a final round of unconserved menus today before starting the training grind tomorrow for the annual New Year's Day charity classic here.

The eastern squad, picked by Coach Andy Kerr and Dick Hanley, arrived today from Chicago.

Tomorrow the teams, each one numbering several outstanding senior stars of college football, will start intensive workouts, the eastern squad across the bay at the University of California, and the westerners at Stanford University, 30 miles south of here.

The western players, picked from colleges west of the Mississippi, and under the wings of Coach Percy Lowrey and Orin Hollingbery, tried out the turf in Kears stadium, where the game will be played, in a brief workout yesterday.

Coaches reported the 22-man squad which includes such stars as Nebraska's Sam Francis and Ed Goddard, of Washington State, in excellent condition.

The eastern squad numbers Lawrence M. Kelley, Yale end, who was awarded the Heisman trophy as the year's most valuable player, and big Ed Wideth, captain of Minnesota's powerful eleven.

Shrine officials announced brisk ticket sales for the game which seldom has failed to fill the 60,000 seats in Kears stadium. Proceeds go to the crippled children's hospital.

Hunk Anderson Fired as N. C. State Coach

ATHLETIC SETUP TO BE CHANGED, STATES GRAHAM

Alumni Council Official To Test Doctor's Power in Court.

RALEIGH, N. C., Dec. 21.—(AP)—Dr. Frank P. Graham, president of the greater University of North Carolina, late today announced "a reorganization of the athletic setup" at North Carolina State College and a few hours later Dave Clark, alumni representative on the athletic council, announced at Charlotte that he would test Dr. Graham's authority in the courts.

Dr. Graham and Colonel John W. Harrelson, administrative dean at North Carolina State, said in a joint statement, they would recommend to the trustees that Johnny Miller, head of the physical education department, be elevated to the post as athletic director and that Hunk Anderson be chosen by the trustees.

Anderson, former Notre Dame coach, will end a three-year contract here December 31.

Graham said he would recommend that Dr. R. R. Serrano, present athletic director, be retained as head coach of basketball and track and as trainer; that C. G. Donk be kept as baseball coach; that Bob Warren be retained as freshman football coach, and that J. L. Von Glahn be retained as business manager of athletics.

In his statement, Clark said: "I understand that President Graham claims that he acted under a remnant of the discredited Graham plan, which was accidentally left in the Southern conference rules and which states that the athletic director and coaches shall be chosen by the president."

Anderson said after confirming the report. Asked about two coaching offers he said he had in November, Anderson replied: "I haven't been dickering with them. I don't know whether the places are still open or not."

One offer, Anderson said, came from the University of Southern California and the other from a Southeastern conference school.

SOME OF TEXT.

"First of all, we wish to say in the present situation that there has been no charge made against the honesty and integrity of any member of the state college staff," Dr. Graham said.

After setting all the charges and rumors involving his integrity, the facts, as developed, impel us to express publicly our faith in his honesty with regard to all the matters involved.

"The charge that he was the source of dissension in the football regimes of Coaches Van Liew, Tebell, and Smith have not been borne out by the facts," he said.

RECOMMEND MILLER.

"We propose to recommend for head of the college department of physical education and athletics, Professor John F. Miller, for twelve years head of the department of physical education, for training, coach of basketball and track, Dr. R. R. Serrano; for head coach of basketball, C. G. Donk; for coach of freshmen football, Dr. Robert Warren, and for business manager of intercollegiate athletics, J. L. Von Glahn, who has already proved his capacity for efficient business management."

"We do not consider that the head coach of football, H. W. Anderson, with his unusual qualities, will fit into this program, and we will therefore, not recommend the renewal of his contract, which expires the last of this month."

MAULDIN DEFEATED BY ITALIAN MATMAN

Count Pietro Rossi, the Italian, defeated "Gentleman" John Mauldin for the title, light heavyweight champion of the south, in one of the roughest matches of the year last night.

The Count's chest, swollen with pride and he told the fans with a boastful air, "I told you so." But it was fully 10 minutes before he could leave the ring, the big crowd wanted to congratulate him by slapping him on the back, but they insisted on using bottles and the Count refused to be honored guest at their party.

"Tarzan" Ben Jordan is matched with the new champ Friday night at the Northside arena.

OVERLIN DEFEATED BY CUBAN FIGHTER

PARIS, Dec. 21.—(AP)—Kid Tunero, Cuban middleweight, outpointed Ken Overlin, of Norfolk, Va., in a ten-round bout here tonight. Tunero, substituting for the Frenchman, Edouard Genet, who withdrew because of an eye injury, weighed 136 pounds and Overlin four pounds more.

Overlin was hit by the crowd of several thousand French fans by his poor showing. He started out aggressively but tired quickly under the Cuban's aggressive boxing.

The American manager said that the change in time during the Atlantic crossing ten days ago "threw Overlin off his style."

THE ALL-AROUND LEADER.

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 21.—Football is the great American college sport—but it isn't the entire story. A day or so ago, your correspondent led in all-around sports ability, including every game anyone might happen to think of at the moment.

Our nomination is the University of Washington, Seattle. As Pacific conference champion, Washington is sending her football team into the Rose Bowl. Jimmy Phelan has one of the best squads in the country.

Last summer I saw Washington's crew outrow the river at Poughkeepsie and later on outrow the pick of the eight-oared world at Berlin in the Olympic test. Al Ulbrickson had the top crew in sport.

About the same time I saw Johnny Medina, of Washington, break up the threatened swimming domination of Japan. Washington once again came to the rescue of the United States.

What basketball team went further in the Olympic showdown than any other college team? The answer once more happens to be Washington, which happens also to rank well up in winter sports.

Other Rivals.

Ohio State had a good football team, a good basketball team, and Jesse Owens.

Harvard, Yale and Princeton had good football teams and good crews. But their football teams and their crews were not as good as Washington's.

Southern California had ten Olympic entries for track and field, outclassing any other university. But the Trojans' football record hasn't been any too hot for the last three years and she has no water ranking.

Washington is also about the only university that can match Dartmouth at winter sports.

Louisiana State has one of the strongest football teams and more than her share of track and field strength, headed by Horlin, L. S. U. is up there at basketball and baseball. But L. S. U. doesn't rate along the water lanes.

Whether you make it land or water or a combination of both, Washington's general average at football, rowing, basketball, swimming and other collegiate sports has topped the field for 1936, at least, and has been unusually high for many years.

Villanova Resumes Work for Auburn

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 21.—(AP)—The Villanova College football team, after a rest since last Wednesday, resumed practice today for the post-season game with Auburn at Havana, Cuba, on New Year's Day.

After blackboard drill in the morning, Coach Maurice (Clippy) Smith took his charges to an armory for a long indoor drill. The squad will enter in the Miami Christmas boxing tournament. From Miami they will fly to Havana.

Ex-Boxer Floored In Aiding Drunks

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Dec. 21.—(AP)—Jack Dempsey once said that "Shifty" Logan was the fastest boxer with whom he ever sparred.

"Shifty," whose real name is Logan Hipp, fought 257 professional battles in 15 years—and never went to the hospital. He retired several years ago.

Saturday he tried to separate "a couple of fighting drunks and keep them from getting locked up," he said. In the melee his right elbow was broken in three places. He went to a hospital.

DETTON WINS.

NEW YORK, Dec. 21.—(AP)—Dean Detton, the Salt Lake City wrestler and heavyweight title claimant, threw another party at the Hippodrome tonight. The party was Dave Levin, of New York, who succumbed after 1 hour, 23 minutes and 59 seconds of tugging.

L. S. U. EXPECTS CLOSE CONTEST; WORK ON KICKS

Bernie Moore Orders Field Goal Drill for Tiger Team.

BATON ROUGE, La., Dec. 21.—(AP)—Expecting every point to count in the Sugar Bowl game with Santa Clara, Coach Bernie Moore drilled the coaching staff of his Louisiana State University grid squad today in field-goal kicking for about half an hour. Pat Coffey, fullback, and Guy Miller, halfback, were particularly effective. Kicking field goals has not been an L. S. U. strong point.

The drill included scrimmage on the kick line play.

Moore, and Backfield Coach Joel Hunt put the backs and ends through a special passing session while the linemen were given charging practice in personal contact.

35 Broncos Named For Trip to South.

SAN JOSE, Cal., Dec. 21.—(AP)—The Santa Clara football team that will meet the Louisiana State in the Sugar Bowl at New Orleans January 1 selected Nello Falaschi, star quarterback, as captain for the affair.

Head Coach Buck Shaw named 35 players for the trip.

Practice will continue until Thursday. There will be no workout Christmas Day. The following day the players will rehearse their offense plays and entrain for the south.

The Santa Clara team will go to Houston to spend two days perfecting their attack on L. S. U. The rooting section will go direct to New Orleans.

OLYMPIC BODY IS OUT OF RED

NEW YORK, Dec. 21.—(AP)—The American Olympic committee is out of the red and has more than $10,000 in the treasury for the new year.

Gustav T. Kirby, treasurer of the A. O. C., today said the committee had paid all outstanding debts, including a $100,000 loan from the American Olympic Association.

"Every athlete on a major team who actually had to dig into his own pocket to pay his way to Berlin has been reimbursed," Kirby said, adding he did not know at this time just how much had been paid back.

An assistant treasurer was left behind to supervise the collection of funds after the team sailed on the S. S. Manhattan in July. Kirby's staff has not yet closed its books. A final report is expected in January.

"We still have some bills to pay in Berlin. The hospitalization of several of our athletes over there has not been taken care of. We also have some bills for the team's expenses on the Olympic trips made by the athletes," the treasurer said.

Despite the belated success of the financial drive, Kirby said he does not go through the long haul again. He has drafted a scheme for collecting money to finance the United States team to Japan in 1940.

The club will suggest to the new president of the committee that a paid, full-time, competent assistant be hired to contact college athletic officials, athletic and civic clubs and patriotic organizations," he said.

Jeremiah T. Mahoney, newly-elected president of the Amateur Athletic Union, today named members of the A. A. U.'s executive, foreign relations, and rules revision committees.

Mahoney himself is chairman of the executive committee, which is composed of representatives of the various sports, and is a member of the foreign relations body, and Lorin Andrews, of Los Angeles, is chairman of the rules revision body.

U. S. ACES SHOW IN CUBAN MEET

NEW YORK, Dec. 21.—(AP)—More than 100 athletes from the United States are going to Cuba to participate in an international athletic carnival during the Christmas holidays.

The island republic, seeking to regain through sports some of the winter tourist business it lost a few years ago when machine guns and bombs were popping around Havana, has lined up seven days of competition in almost every branch of sport from a tennis tournament to a mixed boxing wrestling match between George Godfrey and Jack Sherry.

Carlos L. Henriquez Jr., Cuban sports commissioner, secured the Columbia basketball team—from his old college—to compete in a court tournament against Louisiana State, the Cuban A. C. C. the University of Mexico and possibly Havana University; booked Auburn and Villanova for a novel "intercollegiate" football game which will conclude the program New Year's Day, and got Jesse Owens, the "fastest human" as the leading foot-racing attraction.

The Lions, Eastern Intercollegiate Basketball league champions last season, head the movement south along with the "all-American" boxing team of eight winners of a tournament sponsored by a New York newspaper.

They sail for Havana Wednesday. Villanova's grid team are due to leave Philadelphia Christmas Day.

In addition to the Auburn-Villanova game, which looks like a toss-up between teams rated as leaders in their sections, a second football game brings together the University of Miami freshmen and Cuban A. C. C. eleven. The Cubans were coached by the occasion by Harvey Harman, of Pennsylvania. This game opens the week's activity Saturday afternoon.

The big basketball tourney starts Saturday night when the University of Miami girls' team also is to play a Cuban aggregation.

The boxers will compete on a team basis against Miami University midgets and teams from Cuba, Mexico and Panama.

One includes Yancey Henry and Abe Denner, of Boston; Matt Peretti, Ralph di Casto and Carl del Berio, of Albany; Louis Presto, of Rochester, and Vincent Montana, and Dom Siano, of New York.

Owens is scheduled for two appearances as his first as a professional runner. Between the races of the Miami-Cuba football game Saturday he will try to outstep a race horse for 100 yards; then he will run 100 meters against time in an effort to better the world record.

BREAK O' DAY

was running the wrong way. "Not at first," he said, "I thought he was going for a touchdown sure."

I recall being next to Chick Meehan in the press box that day. I grabbed his shoulder and yelled: "Isn't he running the wrong way?"

"I think so," stuttered Meehan.

It was quite a story. And Riegels, one of the best centers ever to be developed on the coast, was the hero of it.

A REAL HERO.

Riegels happens to be one of the best stories in sport when one considers all the things football is supposed to do in the way of teaching character, discipline and developing the ability to "take it."

A boy with less character and ability to take it, would have been crushed by that run.

After it was over he received a trunkful of letters. Most of them were friendly letters, encouraging him. There were the usual crop of daffy letters from people who wanted to "manage" him in a vaudeville career; letters from girls who wanted to marry him for more publicity. And all that sort of thing.

But Riegels kept quiet—went back to school the next year and made the All-California center job place and then became a teacher and coach.

More than any one player of whom I can think, he illustrates the values football can teach—if a boy will permit it.

THE CALIFORNIA ADVANCE MAN.

Mr. Walter Frederick, of the California news bureau, arrived in Atlanta yesterday with a charming smile, pictures of his team and some information.

The California Bears, who play Georgia Tech here Saturday, will arrive Thursday noon and have a workout at Grant field after lunch.

Mr. Frederick thinks his football team is one of the best. And their record indicates it. Certainly no team came along any faster.

"Vic Bottari helped out," he said. "He is a sophomore, but the minute he was put at left halfback, things got going. We didn't lose a game after he went in."

"Clint Evans, the freshman coach, who has been there eight years, says Bottari is the best passer he has ever seen. With no exceptions."

All of which is very disturbing. But Mr. Frederick is so pleasant about it all he makes it seem pleasant.

Meanwhile quite a lot of interest is being churned up about the appearance of the Golden Bears in Atlanta. They offer a great team and in Bob Herwig one of the great centers of all time.

Herwig has made almost every All-American team selected this year. Herwig played 282 minutes of a possible 300. He also is co-captain of the basketball team.

Most of Georgia Tech's halt and the lame are back. It may be quite a football game.

RABUN FORMS GIANT KILLER FISH, GAME CLUB RATED FAVORITE

CLAYTON, Ga., Dec. 21.—A group of leading citizens met recently and organized a Conservation Club for Game and Fish in this section. State and federal officers were present at the meeting and promised their full cooperation in the movement.

The prime purpose of the meeting was to make general conditions better for fishermen and hunters and not to close down on them for any period of time.

Another object was to educate the people along this line and to encourage them to hunt and fish at the proper time. This club will hold frequent meetings for the purpose of restocking the land with game life and restocking the streams with fish.

Ways and means are already underway to provide more rearing pools for bass and trout.

The president of the club is R. D. Massey, a horticulturist. The vice president is C. Nicholson, a United States forest ranger. The secretary is J. V. Arrendale, county surveyor.

The Lions Club is also backing the movement and has named members of the Rabun county have given their names as members in forwarding the movement.

Those present were Clint Davis, publicity director of the state game and fish department; C. C. James, superintendent of state hatcheries, Griffin; a north Georgia supervisor of game protectors; Fisher, of the federal department from the Gainesville office; Senley and Holloway, also of Gainesville.

G. S. HUBBARD NAMED TEXTBOOK SUPERVISOR

Baldwin Educator and Ex-Solon To Take Post January 1.

C. S. Hubbard, of Baldwin, Ga., will become supervisor of textbooks in the State Department of Education beginning January 1. Superintendent of Schools M. D. Collins announced yesterday.

In this position, it was explained, Hubbard would have charge of the distribution of free textbooks to all Georgia school children should the legislature provide for them next year.

Hubbard will replace no one of the present staff. Dr. Collins explained. The duties of textbook supervisor are now carried on by Paul Barrett, who is also supervisor of WPA education for the state.

Hubbard is a former representative and state senator from Habersham county, and has been superintendent of the Baldwin schools for the past 20 years.

Four basic textbooks are now furnished to children in the first six grades. Under plan sponsored by Governor-elect Rivers and the Georgia Education Association, books would be furnished through all 11 grades.

ICKES TO SEEK RULINGS ON 50 U. S. POWER SUITS

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21.—(AP)—Secretary Ickes decided today to seek decisions in all of 50-odd pending suits attacking allotments to build public power projects.

He ordered his legal staff to bring the cases to trial as quickly as possible. Heretofore, PWA lawyers said the government had hoped a favorable supreme court decision on a case brought by the Duke Power company would result in blocking the other attacks, and had not insisted upon their immediate trial.

The supreme court, however, sent the Duke case to the federal district court last Monday without ruling on the merits of such PWA allotments.

The PWA lawyers said two suits brought by the Alabama Power Company and one by the Iowa City Power and Light Company probably could be pushed to the supreme court faster than any of the rest. They are now before the court of appeals.

TRADE OPPORTUNITIES IN MEXICO ARE BARED

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21.—(AP)—Ambassador Joseph Daniels said today there is "a good opportunity" for American manufacturers to extend their sales in Mexican markets during the current industrialization move in the southern republic.

The envoy to Mexico expressed his views in a statement after he had called briefly at the White House to pay his respects to President Roosevelt. He is en route from his Mexico City post to his Raleigh, N. C. home for a holiday.

The "good neighbor" policy of the Roosevelt administration, Daniels said, had been in evidence in the "mounting flow" of commerce already existing between Mexico and the United States.

Nine Young Socialites Lose Hats, Coats, Purse

A group of young people, members of some of Atlanta's most prominent families, were the victims of thieves, who last night stole six young women's coats, four men's overcoats, four hats and four women's pocketbooks from an automobile parked on Ponce de Leon avenue, near Peachtree street.

The theft was discovered when the victims returned to their car after attending the Pan-Hellenic council dance.

CLEMENCY IS DENIED MRS. SARAH POWERS

Plea of Earl Manchester Also Refused in Macon 'Insurance Murder.'

The Georgia prison commission declined yesterday to recommend clemency for Mrs. Sarah Powers, 79, and Earl Manchester, 30, serving life terms for an "insurance murder" in Macon several years ago.

They were convicted of murdering James W. Parks, another youth. The state contended that the trial Mrs. Powers presented the two young men as her sons and took out an insurance policy on the life of Parks. Manchester was convicted of the actual killing.

Both Mrs. Powers and Manchester were sentenced to be electrocuted. The aged woman, however, obtained a new trial and was sentenced to life imprisonment after the second trial in April, 1931.

Manchester's sentence was commuted to life imprisonment by Governor Talmadge.

The commission also declined to recommend clemency for Adrian Trussell, convicted of the murder of E. B. Watson in Muscogee county at the February term of court last year. Trussell is serving a life term.

The state charged he and two other persons beat Watson to death with a piece of keg on December 30, 1934. The commission recommended a parole for Joe Jones, convicted of the murder of Levi Wise in Chatham county in 1930 and sentenced to life.

The commission said a clemency application was filed for Ralph Sprengs, 29, convicted of robbery in Muscogee county in February, 1934, and sentenced to four to five years. Sprengs was represented by George P. Muner, Columbus attorney.

GRANDSTAND TICKETS TO INAUGURATION ON SALE

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21.—(AP)—Thirty-seven thousand grandstand seats for the inaugural parade January 20 have been put on sale at prices ranging from $3.50 to $10.

The inaugural committee in letters sent to Democratic clubs throughout the nation explained that construction costs had pushed the price up 40 per cent from the original $7.00.

The first ticket was Senator Guffy, of Pennsylvania, who ordered 1,000 top price tickets.

NEW YORK, Dec. 21.—

Stocks beat a slow but decisive retreat in today's market, with many recent leaders falling back 1 to 3 or more points.

While a few copper and specialties were in demand during the greater part of the session, these were not at their best when the final gong sounded.

Offerings were rather sizable in the latter part of the proceedings following advice from Detroit that union forces, planning to organize General Motors workers, had asked for a conference with company officials.

The automotive group was subjected to considerable pressure, but the steel also dropped as fears were expressed in Wall Street that more serious labor problems may soon confront this industry. Some motor makers expected to curtail schedules this week because of shortage of parts due to strikes.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was off 9 of a point at 67.9. Transfers amounted to 1,513,346 shares compared with 1,907,500 last Friday.

An estimated decline of 2.2 points in steel mill operations this week was attributed largely to shutdowns for the Christmas holidays. Magazine publishers said some companies were refusing orders at old prices because they are booked to capacity through January.

Copper shares were given a run as growing demand for the metal pushed the export price up another notch.

Lead and zinc futures were lifted to new recovery tops, but grains and cotton were mixed. Principal European currencies were unimpaired.

Among conspicuous losers were General Motors 64-78, Chrysler at 115-5.8, United States Steel 75-14, Bethlehem 71-5.8, Republic 70-14, Consolidated 122-1.2, Montgomery Ward (ex-dividend and rights) 57-3.8, J. C. Case 142-1.2 and Electric Light 40-40.

Although several rail stocks slipped, most seemed to have recovered somewhat from Saturday's attack of nerves following reports of the Interstate Commerce Commission to grant an extension of emergency freight rates.

Most utilities also yielded only small fractions. Electric Power & Light, responding to a highly favorable earnings statement, was up a point at one time but finished unchanged at 24.

Issues emerging on the market included American at 25, Kennecott 50-5.8, American Smelting 91-1.4, Inspiration 17-1.4, Stone & Webster 26-1.4, Waukegan 37-5.8, Canadian Dry 25-4 and Paramount 20-3.4.

Postal Receipts Show Sharp Gain; Mails Move Smoothly Despite Load

"Pity the postman at Christmas time." This annual sympathetic statement was established as a fact yesterday as Lon Livingston, postmaster, announced postal receipts through December 19 showed a gain of $73,708.04 over the same period last year. The increase is 26.27 per cent. "This gain was registered through Saturday," the postmaster said, "and is one of the largest we have ever had."

Indications are that the end of the month will find the largest single gain in postal receipts in the office's history. The mails are moving smoothly through the country, Livingston said, with no congestion reported at any of the large offices. But a previous request to wrap packages securely with a return address affixed was stressed as Christmas Day draws near. Packages, letters and cards that are dropped in the mail after this morning should be sent special delivery if they are to be delivered before Friday, he warned. The postoffice, however, will be open Saturday and delayed packages and letters will be distributed as soon as possible. The hum and bustle prevalent in the postoffice lobby struck a higher tune yesterday, and as one of the stamp clerks expressed it, the crowds are "only comparable to football fans rushing to get seats to a Tech-Georgia football game an hour before game time."

G. H. Byrd and C. P. Tarp, World War veterans, who are independently supervising a wrapping counter in the lobby as their personal project, stated they averaged wrapping approximately 800 packages yesterday and about the same number Saturday. All of the larger department stores in the city are operating gift wrapping counters as a service to customers, and the large forces are kept busy from opening until closing time, a survey showed.

W. M. Mathews, express firm agent, announced a 15 per cent increase for December through the 17th in revenue and shipments and said the general force and extra help were handling more business than ever before.

In the meantime, a previous released dispatch showed all railroads, bus lines and other travel offices reporting a gain in holiday travel.
